

Board To Seek Showdown on Milk Club Plan

Operators of Stores Complaining Against 'Group' Buying.

A showdown on the milk club plan, whereby Atlanta housewives band together and buy quantities of milk from the platform at 11 cents per quart, will be sought at a hearing before the State Milk Control Board at 10 o'clock this morning in the new state office building.

Complaints have been registered with the board from store operators who argue it is unfair for them to have to pay 13 cents per quart for milk and sell it at 15 cents, when the housewives can get together and buy it for 11 cents, the board office reported.

Mrs. Walter L. Fleisher Jr., chairman of the Atlanta Consumers' Committee, charged that the hearing "was purposely kept quiet so housewives would not have time to organize their protests."

Miss Margaret Davis, secretary of the board, said that for the past 10 days the hearing had been advertised in legal notices in the Fulton Daily Report, the DeKalb New Era, the Cobb County Times and the Clayton County News, as required by the milk control law.

Asked why the announcement was not given out at the same time to the daily newspapers, she added:

"We used to carry advertisements of hearings in the Atlanta papers and at the same time give them news items concerning the hearings. But until this consumers' committee was organized, no consumer ever showed up at these meetings. We feel that recently the newspapers have been unfair to the board by trying to create so much opposition to the rise in milk prices."

YIP-EEE!—Hopalong LeCraw, otherwise known as Hizzoner the Mayor, proved the hoof is mightier than the pen yesterday when, all dressed up in full cowboy regalia, he posed for this picture after proclaiming November 10-14 as Rodeo Week and urging Atlantans to support the rodeo to be given under auspices of the Young Matrons' Circle of Tallulah Falls School at Ponce de Leon park. Ride 'em, Ranger!

Students to Press School Fight

Macon Parley Scheduled for Campus Groups

Many Solons Turn Cold Shoulders to Extra Session Call.

By LUKE GREENE.

With many legislators turning a cold shoulder to suggestions for an extra session of the general assembly to curb the Governor's appointive power over the State Board of Regents, student leaders from colleges all over Georgia yesterday prepared to intensify and unify their campaign at a conference in Macon Saturday.

At the Macon conference will be representatives from the University of Georgia, Georgia Tech, Georgia State College for Women, Atlanta Junior College, Emory University and Mercer University, as well as numerous other institutions.

Postponing a mass meeting until after the conference, the Georgia Tech Student Council yesterday issued a bulletin with big headlines explaining that Tech had joined the fight but was waiting to hear from the other colleges before drafting its strategy.

Committee Named.

While the students were mapping their campaign, Judge Lucien P. Goodrich, president of the University of Georgia Alumni Society, appointed a mediation committee to help retain the university's accredited standing. On this committee are former Governor John M. Slaton and Hughes Spalding, of Atlanta, and Shelby Myrick, of Savannah.

Last night, the alumni association of the Evening College of the University of Georgia, in an action taken independently of school authorities, passed resolutions urging a special legislative session and opposing political interference with the University System. The resolutions were passed at a regular business meeting of the alumni group, which has more than 600 members.

Dick Kenyon, student leader at the University of Georgia, announced a petition would be circulated among the 257 members of the state legislature asking for a special session, and other campus heads were busy contacting members of the Board of Regents.

Asked to comment on the students' proposal, Senator J. H. Clark, of Ringgold, a strong administration supporter, said, "I

Strike-Bound Plant Is 'Womanless City'

500 Men Work, Play, Eat, Sleep Inside Gates of Picketed Atlantic Steel Mill.

By ROLFE EDMONDSON.

Georgia now has a womanless city!

It's a city of more than 500 men, going about their daily chores, cooking, eating and sleeping, and living just like men live in any other city or town, where the population is equally divided among the men, women and children.

Georgia's womanless city covers a territory of approximately 100 acres. It is surrounded by a strong wire fence—a fence which is approximately 8 feet high.

It has a store, a shoe shop, an air conditioned theater, a restaurant where choice foods, prepared by a chef formerly employed at the Book-Cadillac hotel in Detroit, presides, and a canteen, where a man can buy such things as shirts, gloves, caps, cigars, soft drinks, cigarettes and chewing tobacco if he likes it that way, toilet articles and other things a man needs.

Occupants Happy.

It's a clean city—it's streets are devoid of paper and other trash which might mar its beauty, while grass and shrubbery growing here and there in their proper places, add touches of beauty to the landscape.

Its occupants appear to be happy and contented as they go about their various duties. Some of them are switch engine engineers, others are switchmen and brakemen, while others tend giant kettles, containing some 50 or 60 tons of white hot steel, for the men in the womanless city are at work in the strike-bound Atlantic Steel Company plant at Meigs avenue and West Sixteenth street, just beyond the northwest Atlanta boundary lines.

While some of the plant's employees decided to stay inside the plant and work, others joined the CIO steel workers' union and are now outside the high fence, patiently picketing the plant.

Awaiting Word.
Joe Gaither, CIO organizer, who since the pickets were established outside the plant more than a week ago, has been busily engaged in conference with company officials, said last night he was awaiting word from Washington officials before making another move.

"The Labor Department in Washington has tendered its services in an effort to settle the differences now existing between the union and the company," Gaither said, "but the company has refused their offer. We are now awaiting further word from our lawyers in Washington."

Yesterday I spent more than two hours inside the plant.

I saw the men sleeping on bunks they have fabricated out of steel since the picket line was established more than a week ago. I saw them at play in the various shops which have been shut down since the picketing began.

I saw them eating in the company cafeteria, presided over by E. H. Thomas, for the past several years an engineer at the steel plant, but formerly employed as a hotel chef.

Work After Work.

I saw them tending open hearth furnaces and soaking vats, where steel ingots are warmed up to a temperature where they can be rolled out and converted into steel billets.

I saw many of the men who had completed their eight hours of regular work, happily unloading two freight cars of food that arrived in the plant during the afternoon.

I saw men reading letters from

Bishop Candler Leaves 1,500 Books to Emory

Personal Estate Left to Wife by Will Filed in DeKalb.

Bishop Warren A. Candler bequeathed his theology library, of 1,500 volumes, to the Candler School of Theology at Emory University, it was revealed yesterday in his will probated in the DeKalb county ordinary's office.

It was the only gift to a public institution of any of the personal estate of the Methodist leader, who died last month.

To his son, John C. Candler, the bishop left a gold-headed cane given him by the senior class of Emory College in 1891 and a double-case gold watch and chain, 14 shares of stock of General Radios Laboratories Company, his personal oak desk, and other office furniture.

John was omitted from the estate because, according to the will, he had received from Bishop Candler for business and personal use "far more than either of the other children will get under the will."

Samuel C. Candler was given an oil portrait of his grandfather for whom he was named and Captain John C. Curtwright, "who fought bravely leading his company at the Battle of Perryville, Ky."

Mercury Slated To Fall To 40 Degrees Today

Atlantans may wake up this morning to find James Whitcomb Riley's poem come true—"The frost is on the punkin' and the fodder's in the shock."

The fodder is already in the shock and Weatherman G. W. Mindling said last night that fair and much colder weather in view for today may bring in the season's first frost. The temperature was expected to go as low as 40 degrees this morning and reach a high of 65 degrees in the heat of the noon-day. Yesterday's temperature extremes: 54 and 62.

Fall of Rostov Nearly Certain, Allies Believe

Reds Hold Initiative at Moscow, Lose Ground in South.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

The Russian armies of the center appeared last night to have considerably improved their position by general counterattacks which were said in London to have beaten the Germans back before Moscow by as much as 10 miles, but by all signs catastrophe was shrouding the Soviet in the far south.

The southern German forces of Marshal Gerth von Rundstedt, already immense and still being strengthened, were understood earlier to have stood within 10 to 15 miles of Rostov, on the River Don, and clearly were still advancing, if only slowly.

Rostov's Fall Likely.

Informed allied opinion reluctantly conceded that Marshal Semion Timoshenko, recently sent to the south to try to break by far the most dangerous of all Hitler's current thrusts, was not likely to be able to hold Rostov, whose fall would lay open the lower valley of the Don and would, by allied accounts, just about finish the tributary basin of the Donets as a Russian industrial reservoir.

As to the Moscow theater, however, information of yesterday strongly suggested that the Russians held the initiative generally and there were three interesting related reports from neutral quarters in London.

That Red reserves from Siberia had gone into the line, giving the weary Germans a very hard time of it; that Russian artillery (of which the Germans have spoken at times slightly against the vastly superior mobility of dive-bombers) appeared to have an effective superiority at the moment; that the expected freeze had not come, thus leaving the front a sticky mess under rain and light snowfalls.

New Line Opened.

Heavy fighting in the Yelokalansk sector, about 55 miles northwest of Moscow and about midway between the Kalinin and Moshaisk sectors, was reported early today by the Soviet information bureau in a broadcast over the Moscow radio.

This new theater of fighting before the Soviet capital is on a rail line that curves up from the city and continues on west toward the Latvian border.

The early morning communiqué said giant battles still raged in the Moshaisk sector, 57 miles to the west, and in the vicinity of Maloyaroslavets, 65 miles southwest, with many Nazi thrusts beaten back.

Front-line dispatches to Pravda, the official Communist newspaper, claimed in fact that the Germans had fallen to digging defense fortifications in some sectors of the Moscow front-trenches and tank traps—in an effort to consolidate advances which had now been generally halted.

Tank Plant Claimed.
The Germans themselves acknowledged that there had been violent Soviet counterattacks—supported by "almost all the artillery they still possess"—on the Moscow front.

The Nazi high command said that the city of Kamensk, 100 miles southeast of Kharkov in the Donets basin, well to the northwest of Rostov and in the line of an offensive separate from that toward the lower Don, had fallen with the resultant loss to the Russians of the Stalin plant. This was described in Berlin as one of the Soviet's biggest tank producing areas.

Aside from all this, the Germans reported that Leningrad, on the northwestern front, was under violent shelling and implied that a frontal tank and infantry assault upon that long besieged city was at last in sight.

Pepper Sees Naval War If 'Effort' Fails

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—The pending legislation Senator Pepper, Democrat, Florida, strongly urging revision of the neutrality law, told the senate today that if the present "desperate effort to save America's peace" should fail, he knew of "nothing else to which we can resort, other than a naval war."

He spoke after Senator Taft, Republican, Ohio, had charged President Roosevelt with tricking the American people and with already having done what he could to "plunge this nation into a shooting war." This, he said, was implicit in Mr. Roosevelt's speech of last night.

It was the senate's second day of debate upon administration proposals for revision of the neutrality law.

PEPPER.

The pending legislation would repeal sections of that act which prohibit arming American merchant ships, and forbid them to enter combat zones or belligerent ports. Pepper, long one of the senate's more ardent supporters of vigorous action intended to bring about the ultimate defeat of Hitler, charged that opponents of the President's foreign policy had consistently fostered a do-nothing policy, where the defense of the United States was concerned.

By contrast, he argued, repealing the neutrality act's shipping restrictions would prove an "affirmative" step toward keeping the country at peace. He and his colleagues of the United States were concerned.

Atlantans Back Up President's Stand

By HAROLD MARTIN.

The man in the street, the man in the office and the man in the study yesterday were almost solidly behind the President in the policies outlined in his Navy Day "damn the torpedoes" talk. Some, in fact, were even ahead of him, believing that our time for words is over, no matter how forceful they may be.

Most, though, were pleased with its forthright tone as regarded our international policy, and were equally as pleased with the grim warning to domestic obstructionists, both in the ranks of labor and of capital.

Biggest single point on which approval was expressed was the President's indirect warning to John L. Lewis. Men who believe in the labor movement took sharp delight in the warning to Lewis.

"Hit Nail on Head."

Said J. W. Gray, book salesman: "He hit the nail on the head there. If Lewis fails to heed, he's getting himself into deep and dangerous water. What he has done is clearly against the welfare of the country. It's dangerously near to treason. He had had fair warning now."

H. M. Summerlin, policeman. World War veteran and member of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen: "If it takes the President's power to level John Lewis, the power should be used. He's carried things too far. He's discredited the cause of labor and hindered this country in its war effort."

Summerlin was one who thoroughly approved the President's strong language. "He talked stronger than ever before. That's what we need. In fact, I think all that we ought to say in addition is 'Adolf, we're in.'"

Another who felt even more strongly along this line was Joe Smolen, Marietta street store manager. To him the President's speech was a disappointment.

Be "In" With Teddy.

"It was no different from what he has said over and over again," said Smolen. "It was too general. It should have told John Lewis where to get off. It was the same old stuff. Just words. If Theodore

Labor's Closed Shop Demands In Public Disfavor, Poll Reveals

(This is the second of a series of reports by the Gallup Poll showing what public opinion is today on various aspects of the labor question.)

By GEORGE GALLUP,
Director, American Institute of Public Opinion.
Copyright, 1941.

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 28.—In the realm of labor problems an issue which the country will have to meet head on in the coming months is the issue of the closed shop—requiring every worker in a company to belong to the union before he can be hired. Closed shop demands are being pressed by unions in many industries.

In the settlement of any dispute in the labor field there are four parties concerned—management, labor, the government and the public.

As a fact-finding organization devoted to public opinion research, the Institute has conducted a survey to determine where the public stands on the closed shop issue. The results indicate that labor union leaders have thus far not been able to win the support of public opinion for their closed shop demands.

The voters interviewed in the poll are opposed to the closed shop by a ratio of approximately 6 to 1. Today's survey was on the following issue:

"Are you in favor of the closed shop—that is, requiring every worker in a company to belong to a union before he can be hired?"

The trend of sentiment follows:

A comparison with the results of earlier polls on the same issue shows that the closed shop has less public support today than it has had in recent years.

The declining sympathy for the closed shop follows the general

Senior Senator Calls for Action From President

Lewis Remains Silent; U. S. Steel Offers To Mediate Walkout.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

While the nation awaited a showdown on the coal mine strike issue, President Roosevelt said yesterday he was considering general legislation to deal with labor strife in defense industries.

On Capitol Hill, Senator George, Democrat, Georgia, suggested that troops be sent to the coal fields to protect miners willing to work, and Senator Bailey, Democrat, North Carolina, introduced legislation to punish as a saboteur anyone who conducts a strike with "intent" to retard defense production.

Senator George, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, said he thought a "vast majority" of the miners would resume work if troops were sent to the mines and guaranteed protection for the workers.

"I think," the Georgia senior senator said, "that the time is overdue for the President to take that positive attitude."

Lewis Not Mentioned.
Bailey did not mention John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America (CIO), or any other individual.

Lewis, despite three requests by President Roosevelt, has failed to call off a strike of 53,000 soft coal miners.

This issue is a demand for a union shop, under which all the miners would have to join the union. The workers involved are employees of captive mines, so called because they are owned by steel companies which use the coal.

U. S. Steel announced it was willing to accept the services of the Defense Mediation Board for "final" settlement of the strike.

Legislation Introduced.

Without mentioning Lewis or any individual, Senator Bailey introduced legislation under which anyone conducting a strike with "intent" to retard defense production would be punishable as a saboteur. Penalties would range up to $10,000 fine and five years' imprisonment.

Senator O'Daniel, Democrat, Texas, served notice during senate debate on the neutrality legislation that he would offer an "anti-strike" amendment to that bill.

"There are certain radical and wild-eyed labor leaders that are shutting down these defense factories and plants," the Texas senator said.

Rickenbacker Warns Against Air Rivalry

Foresees Crisis for Carriers After Present Emergency.

Captain Eddie Rickenbacker, president of Eastern Air Lines, warned the Civil Aeronautics Board at Washington yesterday against permitting "ruinous competition" which might cause air carriers to fail after the emergency.

He testified during a CAB examiner's hearing on competing applications of five airlines for authority to expand service along the Atlantic seaboard.

Rickenbacker contended Eastern was in position to handle additional east coast routes more economically than other companies. Questioned closely by counsel for the other lines, he denied that Eastern was seeking a monopoly but declared it was to the public advantage to grant any new route to the company best situated to handle it.

Rickenbacker said National Airlines, Pennsylvania Central Airlines, Canadian Colonial Airlines, and Seaboard Airways were proposing services which would duplicate Eastern's main operations.

He said that after the emergency the country would go through "a period of self-denial and, in fact, near poverty and starvation."

"At that time," he asserted, "ill-conceived airlines will fail and good airlines which have been subjected to reckless and wasteful competition will also fail."

Earlier in the day, Examiner Francis W. Brown denied a motion by Eastern to dismiss Seaboard's application. Eastern counsel contended the application was invalid because Seaboard had failed to state in detail its financial status. Brown said he ruled in favor of Seaboard with the understanding that this information would be furnished later in the hearing.

Strike-Bound Plant Becomes City of Men

Home and loved ones, and saw others conversing over the telephone with members of their family.

A typewritten notice hanging on the cafeteria wall informs the men that they are at liberty to leave the company premises at will and informs those who stay within the fence that they are doing so voluntarily.

"Why should we leave?" one employee said.

"Sunday we had religious services conducted by one of our fellow workers, the Rev. R. R. Baker, who is a Baptist minister. Last night we had a movie, and we are now working up an amateur show; the performers to be the men who are inside the plant. Our wives are getting our checks every payday, and we are getting good food here. We are here, and we are going to stay until the trouble is settled, and then, naturally, we want to go home."

There are many gates around the large yard, and pickets could be seen slowly walking by each gate.

Under the terms of the injunction signed Monday by Superior Court Judge Humphries, only five pickets can be at each gate. The pickets are restrained from threatening anyone entering or leaving the plant, and they are restrained from interfering with any delivery trucks or freight cars entering or leaving the plant. They are obeying the injunction.

Across the street from the main entrance to the plant some 30 or 40 of the former employees clustered around a small bonfire.

24-Hour Basis.
"This is just a small crowd here now," one of the men said. "You should have seen the crowd here yesterday. From the number out here yesterday there can't be more than 150 or 200 men inside the plant."

A company spokesman has said more than 550 of the company's employees are inside the plant.

As the two departments of the plant now open are running on a 24-hour-a-day basis, at least one-third of the employees were at work last night when dinner was served. The 120 chairs in the cafeteria were full for more than an hour as the men would eat their dinner, then leave the cafeteria so that another man could have a seat.

The long counter of food contained a wide assortment. There was roast beef, Brunswick stew, veal steak, chop suey, stewed okra and tomatoes, creamed onions, peas, cabbage, macaroni, turnips, string beans, navy beans, creamed potatoes, slaw, an assortment of pickles, vegetable soup, peach and apple cobbler, apple, mince, cherry and peach pie, tea, coffee, fruit juices and tomato juice.

The only thing lacking inside the womenless city for the comfort of the men is bed and table linens. There are plenty of blankets on all the bunks, but they have no sheets to crawl between when they go to bed, and there are no slips on the soft feather pillows, while napkins are missing from the tables in the cafeteria.

Million-to-One Chance Saves Man in Fall Off 100-Foot Bridge

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—(AP)—Charles Kirchmann, 46, cashed in on a million-to-one bet today and the payoff was his life.

Painting from a scaffold dangling 100 feet in the air from Brooklyn's Williamsburg bridge, he took a casual step and slipped off into space. Plummeting downward at terrific speed, his blindly flailing arms closed around a pipe encasing bridge cables.

Then, as hundreds of horrified passers-by watched Kirchmann swaying in the wind by his fingertips, Electrician George Horst climbed down close to him and bound his wrists to the pipe. By that time police arrived and pulled him to safety with a rope.

In his 10-minute joust with death, Kirchmann suffered cuts on his hands and face.

McDonald Cites Loss to State In Power Crisis

Georgia Chairman Warns Priorities Director on Shutdown.

Warning that drastic curtailment of electric power in the southeast will cost Georgia laborers alone more than $800,000 a week, Chairman Walter McDonald, of the Georgia Public Service Commission, yesterday urged the Office of Production Management in Washington to determine specifically how much aluminum stock is on hand before cutting off other industries to supply aluminum furnaces in the TVA area.

num furnaces in the TVA area.

In a letter to Donald M. Nelson, director of priorities, McDonald enclosed an editorial, "The Greater Need," which appeared in last Sunday's Constitution. McDonald said this editorial, which upheld claims of southern industries provided there is sufficient aluminum in stock, was typical of the opinion in this state.

McDonald expressed the opinion "it is just as important to preserve the high morale of our southern industrial workers, where we have had a minimum of labor trouble, and thus preserve the economic stability of our section . . . as it is to concentrate upon one defense product, however vital it may be."

The commissioner assured the Washington agency that Georgia would lend its full co-operation in the present drouth emergency as well as in the long-term power program made necessary by the national crisis.

Ryerson Resigns From America First In Interest of Unity

CHICAGO, Oct. 28.—(AP)—Edward L. Ryerson, Chicago steel executive, resigned as a member of the National America First Committee in a letter dated September 17 to General Robert E. Wood, committee chairman, it was disclosed today.

America First Appeals Radio Fight to FCC

Group Complains About Time Allowed for Rally.

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—(AP)—Battling with the three major networks for radio time for its rally scheduled for Madison Square Garden Thursday night, the executive committee of the America First New York chapter today asked the Federal Communications Commission and the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee to use their "good offices" to obtain radio time for the rally, speakers, Senator Wheeler, Democrat, Montana; Charles A. Lindbergh, and John Cudahy.

The appeal to Washington came on the heels of a charge by America First Chapter Chairman John T. Flynn that radio chiefs were interventionists and that they were showing discrimination by not allowing isolationists air time. All three networks—the National Broadcasting Company, Columbia Broadcasting System and Mutual Broadcasting System—denied the charge.

The telegrams to Washington, signed by Flynn, Mrs. John P. Marquand, Amos R. E. Pinchot, H. Dudley Swim and Edwin S. Webster Jr., said:

"America First has been unable to secure adequate air facilities for Senator Wheeler and none for Colonel Lindbergh and former Ambassador Cudahy for Thursday night's Madison Square Garden meeting. The only space offered for Senator Wheeler is a very limited network, at an hour too late for the meeting."

(President Niles C. Trammell said NBC had offered America First 30 minutes from 10:30 to 11 p. m. (eastern standard time) Thursday on a 62-station hookup east of Chicago, but that Wheeler had declined the offer.)

The telegrams said further that "to withhold fair access (to the air) on flimsy excuses to the principal speakers in the country against going to war, while the pro-war people are, in one way or the other, on the air night and day, is an outrageous proceeding in a democracy."

How To Order A Want Ad

It's Very Simple

- |        |                        |
|--------|------------------------|
| First  | Pick up your telephone |
| Second | Call WALnut 6565       |
| Third  | Ask for an ad-taker    |

Every Want Ad employee is especially trained and qualified to serve you in giving intelligent advertising service. They will give you advice on how to word your want ad so that it will produce profitable results at minimum cost—and answer any advertising problem.

Hundreds of people are taking advantage of this helpful service daily. If you have a problem—a house to rent, an apartment, a room, need help, sell your car, used merchandise, want to locate a missing person, have lost something of value—the quickest answer to your perplexity is a Constitution Want Ad.

The Constitution contacts the most responsive audience of newspaper readers in Greater Atlanta, so naturally you have a greater opportunity to solve your problems as tens of thousands read the offerings in the Want Ads daily.

In it he said he had always supported the America first platform for a national policy avoiding any action that would involve the nation in war in Europe, that he had also maintained that every possible step must be taken to develop adequate national defense and had stood for aid to England and "all other innocent sufferers in this war catastrophe. . . ." The letter continued:

"I am still convinced that the great majority of our people want to remain out of the conflict and believe that aid to Britain and other nations can be given in a way to avoid acts that mean war."

"I have deplored the state of our national affairs wherein the greatest democracy of the world has been slowly, but surely, guided by our national government executives into a situation that has not permitted the people of our land to determine upon a national policy."

"It is, however, apparent that we have been brought face to face with an emergency that may mean active participation in war at any moment. To deal successfully with such an emergency demands, above all else, unified action by all our people."

America First headquarters, confirming Ryerson's resignation, said there had been several other resignations from the national committee recently but that the persons involved had requested there be no announcements and that their resignations were for "personal rather than policy" reasons.

Mrs. I. S. Sargent Succumbs at Home

Mrs. I. S. Sargent, a life-long resident of Atlanta, died last night at her home at 1241 Boulder Crest drive, S. E.

She is survived by her husband; a daughter, Mrs. Fred L. Bryant; a son, Roy C. Sargent, of Decatur; two sisters, Mrs. A. L. White and Mrs. D. P. Moore; four brothers, J. J., J. C., B. W. and L. H. Hardin, of Augusta, and two grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements will be announced by H. M. Patterson & Son.

Mrs. Ida Coates Dies in Florida

Mrs. Ida B. Coates, who resided for half a century in Atlanta, died yesterday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. E. B. Elliott, the former Miss Sarah Coates, at Coconut Grove, Fla., with whom she had been living for the past 10 months.

Mrs. Coates was the widow of George W. Coates, an Atlanta shoe merchant. She resided here for a long time on The Prado.

Besides her daughter, she is survived by three grandchildren, Robert W. Barnes, of Knoxville, Tenn.; Mrs. Anton Bruhl and Miss Susan Barnes, both of New York city.

Mrs. Barnes Dies At Residence Here

Mrs. Frances W. Barnes, widow of a Confederate veteran, died yesterday at her home at 1117 Oak street, S. W., at the age of 97.

She is survived by a daughter, Mrs. D. C. Stripling. Funeral services will be held tomorrow at noon at the Wesley Chapel in Villa Rica, Ga.

Shot Fired As Castillo Entrains in Argentina

BUENOS AIRES, Oct. 28.—(AP)—A shot was fired tonight out of a crowd assembled around a train in which Acting President Ramon Castillo was departing for the town of Olavarria in Buenos Aires province.

Police promptly arrested one person out of the group of about 50 on the platform of the Constitution Railway station. The bullet apparently was fired into the air, witnesses reported immediately after the shooting.

Mortuary

MRS. ROSA LEE STREET. Funeral services for Mrs. Rosa Lee Street, who died Monday, will be held at 11 o'clock this morning at the chapel of San R. Greenberg, with the Rev. F. F. Tribble officiating. Burial will be in Roseland Park cemetery.

MRS. W. S. KING. Mrs. W. S. King, who died Monday, will be held at 11 o'clock this morning at St. Paul Methodist church, with the Rev. Charles H. Strickland and the Rev. Willis M. Jones officiating. Burial will be in West View cemetery.

HENRY H. KUGLER. Funeral services for Henry H. Kugler, who died Sunday, will be held at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at Forest Park Primitive Baptist church. Burial will be in the churchyard with J. Austin Dillon in charge of arrangements.

Fire Fighters Warned Against Drunkenness

Ivey Suspended For 15 Days as Board Directs Styron

As they ordered a 15-day suspension for Harry Ivey, fire department mechanic, arraigned before the board of firemasters last night on charges of intoxication, members of the board directed Chief Styron to warn all firemen that they will be dealt with more severely in the future if brought before the board on a similar charge.

"We have a good fire record here now," Councilman Howard Haire, chairman of the fire board said, "and we don't want it jeopardized by a drunken fireman."

Ivey, the department's shop mechanic, who designed and helped construct the floodlight truck which is a part of the city's fire fighting equipment, was arraigned on an intoxication charge preferred by Chief Styron.

The board also instructed Chief Styron to obtain whatever equipment he can from the National Civilian Defense Committee to be used by the department in case of an invasion of the United States.

No action was taken by the committee on a report that Fireman E. H. Davis is facing a cheating and swindling charge in the Hall county city court, it being pointed out to the board that Davis is now on a leave of absence. The committee decided to take up the report when Davis returns to duty.

'Last Chance' Offered French To Deliver Slayers of Nazis

PARIS, Occupied France, Oct. 28.—(AP)—A "last chance" offer to spare the lives of 100 French hostages and release war prisoners whose families turn informer on the assassins of two Germans was announced tonight by General Otto von Stuepnagel, commander of the German occupation forces.

Suspension of the "hundred-for-one" reprisal system for an indefinite period was ordered by Adolf Hitler personally, the general said, to give the French more time to deliver information on the six assassins.

One hundred French hostages already have been put to death, 50 at Nantes and 50 at Bordeaux.

Two men were said to have been involved in the actual slaying of Lieutenant-Colonel Paul Friedrich Hotz, Nazi commandant at Nantes, and four in the killing of Dr. Hans Gottfried Reimers, German military lawyer at Bordeaux.

Axis To Smash 'All Obstacles,' Mussolini Says

Duce Implies U. S. Will Perish With Russia and Britain.

ROME, Oct. 28.—(P)—Premier Mussolini declared tonight that Bolshevism, "struck to the heart... is dying" and that its "shady European and American allies will perish with it."

Thousands of blackshirted Fascists, thronging the Piazza Venezia below the Duce's balcony, understood this as a reference to Russia's plight and an implication that the United States would perish with Russia and Britain.

Mussolini declared that "in spite of all coalitions, we will smash every obstacle."

Il Duce addressed a few words to thousands of Fascists who packed the Piazza Venezia after a day of celebration of the 19th anniversary of the Fascist march on Rome.

In response to their cheers, he said:

"We are facing the dawn of the twentieth year of the Fascist era with an iron-like faith in victory."

Pepper Sees War If Peace Effort Fails

Pepper, he said, adhered to "the belief that the best way to defend America is by an affirmative policy," which involved action to prevent the spread of Nazism to this hemisphere before it is too late. And later, he said:

"If this desperate effort to save America's peace fails, there is nothing else that I know of to which we can resort, other than a naval war."

Taft told the senate that enactment of the legislation would give the President direct authority from congress to "carry on an undeclared war against Germany, Italy and Japan on all the oceans of the world and in all the ports into which sea-going ships may sail."

After Mr. Roosevelt's speech of last night, he continued, no one could "doubt that he is proposing that the United States carry on an undeclared war against Germany, Italy and Japan on all the oceans of the world and in all the ports into which sea-going ships may sail."

The speech, furthermore, was a public admission, Taft charged, that Mr. Roosevelt had "tricked" the American people.

"While talking of peace," he continued, "even while senate leaders talk of amending the neutrality act as a measure of defense, President Roosevelt announces he has already done what he can to plunge the nation into a shooting war."

"He has given unqualified corroboration to those who have sought to convince the American people for months that he was leading them down the road to bloodshed while constantly repeating pledges of peace."

Pepper Flays Do-Nothings. Pepper said several leading opponents of the President's policy had consistently opposed measures intended to strengthen the country's defenses.

"The country did not have to depend on those negative words," he said. "Had their counsel prevailed, not one single gun, not one ounce of powder, not one implement of war would have gone to Britain." Had it not been for American help, Britain would already have been crushed under the "cruel heel of Hitler."

"Hitler is not a man of half-measures," the senator shouted. "Hitler will die like Napoleon, in exile, crucified by the just retribution of an indignant world as he should be—or die as master of all the earth."

ICKES EMPHATICALLY FAVORS NEUTRALITY REPEAL

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 28.—(P)—Secretary Ickes answered with an emphatic "yes" today when newsmen asked him if he favored outright repeal of the neutrality act.

A reporter then questioned the secretary of the interior about the possible imminence of war with Japan.

He answered, then said: "I withdraw that answer. Don't quote me. Times are so critical that I guess I had better not say anything. I don't want to embarrass the State Department."

can't see any reason on earth for a special session."

Dorsey With Governor. Senator A. L. Dorsey, also one of the Governor's stalwarts, said he was willing to let the Governor decide whether an extra session was necessary.

Representative Harry S. Aiken, of Bulloch county, said he favored legislation to have regents' terms staggered, the appointments to be confirmed by the senate and the Governor to be removed as a member of the board. He said he would favor a special session.

In their resolutions, the Evening College alumni said it was their understanding that the units of the University System should be administered by professional men free from fear of political domination.

They declared themselves in favor of an extra session of the legislature to meet immediately and take action to remove politics from the control of the University System, with a view to prevent the loss of their accredited rating by units of the system.

The alumni elected Miss Christine Wing president to succeed Dean Dreyer; Robert Kimsey, vice president; Miss Ordry Palmer, secretary; and Homer Brewer, treasurer.

Elected to the board of directors were: Mrs. Edgar G. Kilpatrick, Dean Dreyer and Joe Rhyne. Mrs. Roscoe Gilmore was appointed publicity chairman for the coming year.

Tech Program. The Georgia Tech Student Council, after a lengthy discussion, adopted the following as its program:

1. We are not undertaking a personal attack on Governor Tamm, but rather an attack on the existing vulnerability of the University System to political interference.

2. To make a concerted attempt to bring about a special session of the assembly of Georgia to strip the Governor of his powers regarding the regents of the University System.

3. A program of intensive letter writing on the part of the students who are residents of Georgia to their parents and friends back home demanding they bring pressure to bear on their senators and representatives in the legislature with the purpose of carrying out point No. 2, above.

4. To bring the above issues to the attention of every high school senior in the state of Georgia and solicit their support in the above issues.

5. To keep our fellow students at Tech well posted concerning our progress.

6. To have a student meeting as soon as we deem it necessary.

Investigator Under Fire in Hatch Act Case

Attorney Claims Federal Man Attempted To Coerce Witness.

A federal investigator yesterday was accused of trying to intimidate potential witnesses in the Labor Department Hatch act case as the week-long inquiry came to a close.

Defense Attorney George Stewart, brother of Defendant J. E. B. Stewart, said he had one witness who would testify that Commission Investigator L. C. Lawhorn asked her if $5 would refresh her memory and others would swear that Lawhorn attempted to intimidate and coerce them.

Attorney Stewart brought to the stand Virginia F. Porter, secretary to Alfred F. Scogin, manager of the Atlanta unemployment office. Although she was not allowed to testify, Stewart was permitted to place in the record statements purporting to show that the investigator asked, after lengthy questioning: "If somebody offered you $5 don't you think it might refresh your memory?" Examiner James W. Irwin said Stewart's proffer did not bear out the charge.

L. V. Maloy, counsel for the Civil Service Commission, said he was convinced the charges against Lawhorn were "trumped up."

J. E. B. Stewart issued the following statement last night: "The Civil Service Commission's agents apparently took advantage of my absence from the city to conclude hearings in the Hatch act affair. Their action in concluding the hearing has deprived me of the right to defend myself by introducing testimony and hearing evidence. They dare not listen to the evidence I am prepared to submit."

"On yesterday morning, October 27, I informed the examiner in open hearing that I was without counsel due to his refusal to allow the attorneys I had retained to represent me and that I knew of no other course except to make a feeble attempt to represent myself, which was, of course, against my will; whereupon, being in doubt as to when the cases against the others would be concluded, I called upon L. V. Maloy, government attorney, to supply me with 750 subpoenas. Maloy gave me 100 subpoenas and stated that he would contact the Civil Service Commission immediately and have them mail 650 additional subpoenas. This took place a short time before noon yesterday. The additional subpoenas were never delivered to me.

"Having previously retained Senator H. B. Edwards, of Valdosta, I felt that his advice was needed in the preparation of my defense, even though he could not appear as attorney for me. With this thought in mind I immediately left for Valdosta to confer with Edwards and to seek evidence in my behalf. I reached there last night and conferred with him and immediately began filling out subpoenas to be served on the people that I thought should testify in my behalf. This arbitrary and unwarranted action on the part of the Civil Service Commission's agents is more evidence to substantiate my charge of last week to the effect that the cards were stacked against me before the arrival in Georgia from Washington of the Civil Service Commission's agents. It must be remembered that the Civil Service Commission has been building up its case against me since last June, a period of nearly five months. Until the last few days I have not known what charges I would be called upon to defend. Although the commission took nearly five months' time to build a case against me, they were unwilling to give me even 24 hours to plan my defense. I have, ready to be served, over 50 subpoenas; yet, I apparently will not be given the opportunity to serve them or to otherwise present my defense.

"I will present my defense to the people at the proper time. Thank God, the right still exists for a person to be represented in the federal courts of this land."

Emmett Williams Dies at Age of 51

Emmett A. Williams, 51, died yesterday at his home at 848 Jefferson street, N. W.

He is survived by his wife; four sons, Herman, LeRoy, Theodore and Henry Williams; a daughter, Miss Vernie Mae Williams; his father, Marion Williams; a brother, Fate Williams, and three sisters, Mrs. O. S. Cole, Mrs. Jimmie Cannon and Mrs. Jack Ward.

Funeral services will be held at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon at Bellwood Baptist church, with the Rev. C. D. Reagen officiating. Burial will be in Pleasant Hill cemetery, J. Allen Couch in charge of arrangements.

Government Authorizes Defense Housing Here

Selection of sites for defense housing in Atlanta was authorized yesterday at Washington by John N. Eddy, acting Federal Works administrator.

The Atlanta Housing Authority, through the United States Housing Authority, will choose a site for 100 units in the Atlanta area, already approved by President Roosevelt, to house enlisted personnel and Naval Reserve and enlisted and civilian personnel of Lawson General hospital.

Pastor Here Flays 'Gentle, Decorous' Concept of God

By DR. THOMAS M. ELLIOTT.

"Away with your nice, decorous, gentle God. . . . He is not the God that wins in Armageddon," Dr. R. C. Cleckler, pastor of Collins Memorial Methodist church, who for many years has made research and study of the scriptural prophecies relative to the battle of Armageddon, told Methodist ministers of Atlanta at their weekly conference this week.

Dr. Cleckler was heard by special request in his learned discourse, and, speaking with reference to the nearer approach of Armageddon, said:

"Since Adam's fall, all move toward Armageddon, and we are now in the nearer approach to that great event, even in the last days. If the ministry of Jesus and Pentecost could be called 'last days,' our day is one among the last days. No one can tell how many days are included in the last days, or what day will be the last day of the last days. Jesus and John say the entire time is short.

Days of Grace.

"It is the day of grace, of the church, of the Holy Spirit, the day of the work of Christ through these so that all who will may be enlisted on the right side when Armageddon's day comes. This work is restricting Satan, where-in he is chained and imprisoned as symbolically referred to in Revelation 20. The thousand years of the restraint are to be identified with the dispensation of the church. The Christian believer begins to reign with Christ on earth when he begins to live in Christ."

This is the Christian believer's first resurrection, when he is passed from death into life, and is raised in righteousness. This resurrection, said Dr. Cleckler, is not to be confused with the second resurrection when all the dead shall come forth from the graves. The second resurrection is that of the believer's body, of all believers and unbelievers alike. Faith makes the difference between those who live and reign with Christ and those who do not, said he.

The Thousand Years.

"The thousand years is the expression used to denote the time between the spiritual resurrection and the 'little season,' the time of the regnant Christ and believers, of Satan restricted. The expression, without being definite, denotes the fullness of this time. Armageddon cannot come before this period, except in violation of prophecy in Revelation 20. Those who insist on a literal thousand years after the second coming of Christ cannot be consistent and say that Christ may come at any time, for we have not yet had the second coming of Christ. To be consistent and say that Armageddon is near, one must believe we are in the midst of the last days of dispensation."

Dr. Cleckler asserted that Armageddon is not a fight of man against man, or nation against nation—it is a fight of Satan against God, of the rebellion, unbelieving of the nations against the saints, led by Jesus Christ and Almighty God. Satan, loosed for a "little season," is responsible for Armageddon.

"Mad, because of the life, love and work of Christ, and because of the effect of His redemptive work in the hearts and lives of men, Satan leads unrepentant nations and men against the redeeming effort that meets with success.

Battle Array.

"In Armageddon's battle array there stands the good and spiritual against the evil and carnal—God and the redeemed believers against Satan and beast worshippers," said he.

"Does any one have any doubt as to how the battle will terminate?" asked Dr. Cleckler. "Satan and the forces of wickedness may seem to be winning, but they are merely rallying and directing the powers that will bring their defeat, for sin bringeth forth death. "At the consummate moment of Armageddon the saints are not described as in action. Revelation 20:9 denotes the battle's conclusion—'Fire came down from God out of heaven, and devoured them.' 'Fire' connotes all the forces combined for the destruction of evil and its agencies: The Creator can destroy, as shown in Revelation 11:18.

Ideas of God.

"Away with your nice, decorous, gentle God, conforming to current views and preferences! He is not the God that wins in Armageddon. Using His creative and destructive word, He speaks, and it is done." As Armageddon battle closes, Satan finds his path closed; the beast from the sea, cruel and corrupt government and its sponsors, the beast from the earth, apostate, corrupt and cruel religion, are cast out; and Satan is cast out. After the resurrection, death and the grave are cast out. After the judgment the sinful and unbelieving whose names are not in the Lamb's book of life are cast out. Christ moves in majesty and power at once to the goal of His messianic, when the redeemed in their glorified bodies will enter into the gates of the city and become the citizens and residents of the new heaven and new earth."

F. D. R. Signs Bill Providing Lend-Lease Aid

Stettinius Is Redesignated Administrator of Funds for Allies.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—(AP)—President Roosevelt today signed a bill appropriating another $5,985,000,000 for lend-lease assistance to nations opposing Axis aggression.

At the same time Mr. Roosevelt signed an executive order centralizing administration of the lend-lease act in the Office of Emergency Management in the presidential executive office under the direction of Edward R. Stettinius junior.

Mr. Roosevelt redesignated Stettinius as lend-lease administrator.

The appropriation brings the total which congress has provided for lend-lease operations to $12,985,000,000.

In addition to the lend-lease fund the bill includes $176,000,000 for other defense purposes.

Georgian Urges Use of Soldiers In Mine Strike

ator said. "The President is being told by one of these labor leaders just where the United States can head in. I think that is the burning issue before congress today. Unless we stop these terrible strikes, our efforts may fail."

O'Daniel said that a labor leader who refused to tell 53,000 men to go back to work did not represent the rank and file of American labor.

Chairman Truman, Democrat, Missouri, of the Senate Defense Investigating Committee, called the captive mine strike an "outrage" and expressed the opinion that the President should take over and operate the mines after appealing to the workers "over the head" of Lewis.

A senator, Republican, Ohio, said he thought the President should "do everything he can to see that the mines are opened."

"That will require," he said, "reversing a good many labor policies of the last six years."

O'Daniel said that the workers would have paralyzed industries working on hundreds of millions in defense contracts and affected the homes of more than 1,500,000 persons in three states, was postponed indefinitely last night. It had been scheduled for 10 a. m. today and would have hit hardest at the St. Louis metropolitan area.

Agree to Mediation. Representatives of 55 chapters of the Tri-State Utility Workers' Union of the United Electric Company voted to accept an OPM plan which would place the controversy in the hands of the National Defense Mediation Board.

The board, in turn, would appoint three St. Louisans to arbitrate the 10 per cent wage increase demands of 3,000 operating, maintenance and office employees in Missouri, Illinois and Indiana.

Another major development was a threat of a strike by the aviation division of the United Automobile Workers (CIO) in New York, New Jersey, Connecticut, Maryland and Pennsylvania.

Richard T. Frankenstein, national director, said in New York he had telegraphed President Roosevelt the union had no choice but to use its economic strength to protect its members on strike at Bendix, N. J.

A 25-day dispute at the Bendix plant, of Air Associates, Inc., holder of $5,000,000 in contracts for aircraft parts, was settled last Friday when the firm agreed to reinstate 65 strikers, but the union decided to go out again yesterday and flung a picket line around the plant.

The union contended the company violated last Friday's agreement by trying to make the men sign forms depriving them of their former positions and pay. This the company denied.

Break Picket Line. In Seattle AFL leaders yesterday formed a flying wedge to break a welders' picket line and reopen the Lake Washington Shipyards at Houghton, Wash. Later the Seattle Metal Trades Council (AFL) estimated that more than half the 4,000 sympathy strikers had returned to work at shipyards and other industries in that area.

An estimated 1,700 welders, demonstrating against the AFL's refusal to authorize them to form a separate union, continued their walkout in Seattle and Tacoma.

Plants affected by the walkout in that area have national defense orders aggregating $350,000,000. In Florence, Ala., approximately 75 welders of the AFL metal trades division remained away from their jobs in the Muscle Shoals area in sympathy with the Pacific coast welders. Meanwhile, 42 of the 91 welders working at the Army's Wolf creek shell-loading plant at Milan, Tenn., who staged a "sympathy layoff," decided to return to work yesterday. The full force will be back on the job by noon today, a spokesman said.

Dispute Before Board. In Washington, the Defense Mediation Board opened a hearing yesterday into labor disputes at the Birmingham (Ala.) plants of the Sloss-Sheffield Steel & Iron Company and the Alabama By-Products.

The two companies together supply most of the gas used in Birmingham defense industries and by the city. Mediation Board officials said the cases were being heard together because the industries were closely related, the same union—the CIO's United Mine Workers—was involved, and that the issues were similar.

A labor dispute at the Ingalls Shipbuilding Corporation plant at Pascagoula, Miss., which has between $100,000,000 and $150,000,000, in Navy and Maritime Commission contracts, was also before the board for hearing.

Members of the Pascagoula Metal Trades Council (AFL) struck October 13 over demands for union security, but returned to work October 16 at the Mediation Board's request. The corporation employs about 3,000 men.

GEORGIANS URGE F. D. R. TO TAKE STRIKE ACTION
Special to THE CONSTITUTION
WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—President Roosevelt was urged today by Representative Frank Whelchel, of Georgia, to take vigorous action in crushing unjustifiable strikes affecting defense industries.

In a letter sent to the White House the Georgia congressman told Mr. Roosevelt that both congress and the American people would stand squarely back of him in any measures deemed necessary to meet the challenge of those defying the national defense effort.

At the same time, another Georgia congressman, Representative E. E. Cox, of Camilla, served notice that he was drafting a bill for presentation to the house outlawing the closed shop, solitary issue in the present coal strike. Cox said he would move to discharge the House Labor Committee from consideration of the bill, a procedure designed to give the measure the legislative right of way without going before committee. A petition to discharge requires the signatures of 218 house members.

"We can get them now," Cox said.

HOUSING BONDS.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—(AP)—The senate passed and sent to the White House today legislation permitting the Treasury to refund United States Housing Authority bonds which become due November 1.

Veteran Andes Pilot Visiting Mathers Here

American's Regular Run Tops 24,000-Foot Peak in Cordilleras.

By DUPONT WRIGHT.

A veteran pilot with a thousand crossings of "the hump" of the Cordilleras—better known here as the Andes—to his credit—arrived in Atlanta yesterday to look up old friends.

He is Captain Ott Gardner, for eight years a pilot with Panagra—the Pan-American Grace Airways—on the run between Santiago, Chile, and Buenos Aires. With him is his pretty wife, born in Aberdeen, Scotland, but who has lived most of her life in the Argentine.

They are visiting Roy S. and Cotton Mather, prominent Atlantans. Gardner and Cotton Mather became fast friends during the earthquake several years ago in Chilean province, in Chile, and both were decorated by the Chilean government for their services. Mather, who happened at the time to be in Chile on a vacation, distributed supplies as unofficial representative of the Red Cross. Gardner and other pilots of his line flew the injured from the earthquake zone to hospitals in Santiago.

During regular flight from Santiago to Buenos Aires, Captain Gardner said that it is necessary to fly over Aconcagua, a peak 24,000 feet high. On the five-hour trip one passes over 150 miles of mountains, flat as a table top, he said.

Captain Gardner likes South America, but when he retires he wants to settle on a farm in Georgia. Originally from Orange, Cal., he was graduated from Kelly Field into the Army Air Corps in 1930. He went to Chile in 1933.

Europe Sees 'Active War' in Roosevelt's Navy Day Speech

White House Messages Are Favorable, 8-1

President Is Amused at Axis Reaction to Accusation.

By The Associated Press.
President Roosevelt's Navy Day address was interpreted abroad to mean that the United States was aiming at active participation in the war, while the chief executive himself expressed amusement yesterday at the Axis reaction.

Press Secretary Stephen Early said White House telegraph lines and the telephone switchboard had "collapsed" under the flow of messages. Early said they ran about 8 to 1 in favoring it.

Congress Reaction.
In congress the speech, with its forthright assertion that the "shooting has started" and that Americans had "taken our battle stations," was alluded to time after time in the day's debate over neutrality act revisions.

Administration supporters praised it highly while Senators Wheeler, Democrat, Montana; Taft, Republican, Ohio, and Walsh, Democrat, Massachusetts, among others, viewed it as foreshadowing steps of increasing belligerence.

Mr. Roosevelt told his press conference that he thought the comment from the Axis countries, particularly disavowal of a German map purporting to partition South America, was a scream. He facetiously suggested that reporters might study the German utterances, which were profuse in epithets, to improve their vocabularies.

Fascist Mouthpiece.
The Fascist mouthpiece, Virginio Gayda, and some sections of the German press went as far as to say the address virtually put the United States into the war against the Axis without formal declaration.

British authorities went about their work with smiles of satisfaction they made no effort to hide. The London press called the speech a new, direct step toward helping the British in the war.

The German press belabored Roosevelt as a "shill" and "agony" and charged that he referred to a forgery when he mentioned having possession of a map of South America showing German plans for the control of that continent.

Single Sour Note.
Only one sour note was discerned in South American reaction to the speech. Officials and the press of Argentina, Brazil and Chile appeared pleased with the President's address. But an editorial commentator on a Bogota, Colombia, newspaper said:

"The oration by Roosevelt had the object of destroying congressional resistance to repeal of the neutrality act. We cannot contemplate without anguish the spread of a universal war, heralded by this speech and in which we will be involuntary participants."

AROUND Atlanta

WITH THE CONSTITUTION STAFF

Major Gilbert S. Decker, of the Salvation Army, will be installed as president of the Atlanta Social Workers' Club at a luncheon meeting in Rich's tearoom at 12:30 o'clock this afternoon. Other officers are Mrs. Frances Mounie, Travelers' Aid, vice president; Miss Cornelia Wallis, Child Welfare, secretary, and William H. Rees, WPA, treasurer.

Fulton county grand jury will return its presentments Thursday, Wiley L. Moore, foreman, announced yesterday, following a long afternoon session, during which jurors discussed committee reports and prepared to write the jury recommendations. Moore said the presentments will be "short and non-political."

Federal employees inducted into the Army may receive, in addition to military pay, compensation covering their accumulated or current accrued leave in their civilian positions, Brigadier General Sion E. Hawkins, state selective service director, said yesterday. If they choose, they may have their leave remain to their credit until they return from active military duty, he added.

Civil service examinations were announced yesterday for instructors for the Armored Force School at Fort Knox, Ky., at salaries from $2,000 to $4,600 a year; assistant accountant and auditor, at $2,600 a year; principal accounting and auditing assistant, at $2,300 a year, and border patrolman, at $2,000 a year. Application forms may be obtained from the Civil Service office in the New Post Office building.

George Googe, of Atlanta, southern representative of the American Federation of Labor, has been appointed an alternate member of the Defense Mediation Board by President Roosevelt. William H. Davis, chairman of the board, announced yesterday in Washington.

J. F. Holder, of 1312 West Peachtree street, suffered a possible fracture of his right leg, and Mrs. Mabel O'Brien, of 1368 Ponce de Leon avenue, body bruises Monday when they were struck by an automobile driven, police said, by George Rice, of 319 McDonough boulevard, as they alighted from a trolley car at McDonough boulevard and Sawtell street.

I-Want-to-Be-Drafted Club will meet from 5 to 6 o'clock tomorrow.

Magdalena Petit, the Chilean author and musician, will be entertained at open house at 3 o'clock this afternoon in the Glenn building on the Emory University campus by the romance language department of the university.

Robert E. Lawson, senior in Woodrow Wilson College of Law, was elected an ex-officio member of all committees of the senior class and attorney for the class at a meeting last night. Lawson is an employee of the Georgia Power Company, and passed the bar examination after one year in law college.

Masons Hold 155th Grand Lodge Session

Officers To Be Named at Closing Meeting Today in Macon.

MACON, Ga., Oct. 28.—(AP)—Freemasonry offers something solidly helpful to young men in the face of present world conditions, Grand Master Preston Agee, of Augusta, asserted in his annual address to Georgia Masons in their 155th session here today.

The largest registration in 15 years has been noted for this annual convocation of the grand lodges of the state. Grand Master Agee in his address also noted that membership in the organization is showing a decided increase.

Governor's Side Wins in Debate
A debating team at Emory University, on the basis of arguments presented and refuted, Monday night won their argument that the recent University of Georgia disturbances have not been detrimental to the state—in spite of the fact the Governor warned them they would lose.

The students interviewed the Governor last week to ask help in their argument. He warned them, "You'll probably lose."

On the winning side were James Barron, of Atlanta, and Lee Dickens, of Sparta. Arguing that the Governor's action in firing 10 educators was harmful were Carl Lowendick and A. G. Nikas, of Atlanta, and Charles Beckham, of Miami.

Purchase of an additional 16 acres of land adjoining the Municipal Airport was recommended yesterday by city council's parks and aviation committee as a protection against obstruction of the west end of the east and west runway. The land will be bought from Mrs. V. M. Greer at an overall cost of $7,000. Several months ago Mayor LeCraw and Jack Gray, field manager, attempted to get tall trees on the tract cut, but the agreement to purchase has obviated the necessity of pursuing the cutting proposal.

After expressing sympathy with and pledging co-operation to establishment in Atlanta of a 500-man capacity recreational center for service men on leave, city council's parks committee yesterday declined to allow use of Piedmont Park as the site of the improvement after City Attorney Jack C. Savage ruled charter prohibitions specifically bar use of the park for anything except park purposes.

Halloween party will be held at the clubrooms of the Welcome Court Social Club, 26 Pine street, at 8:40 o'clock tomorrow night. President Frank Gleason issued an invitation to strangers and lonely people to join club members in merry making.

City Slickers of the DeKalb Chamber of Agriculture and Commerce will meet at 7:30 o'clock tomorrow night at the Rutland building, 124 Atlanta avenue, Decatur, R. F. Sams Jr., chairman, announced.

Dr. J. R. McCain, president of Agnes Scott College, will be chapel speaker at Emory University on Parents' Day, November 7, it was announced yesterday.

Allied Federal Council, composed of American Federation of Government Employees, National Federation of Post Office Clerks and the Railway Mail Association members will meet at 6:30 o'clock November 7 in the American Legion Hall for their annual dinner and dance.

Home Economics Day, Saturday, will be celebrated in Atlanta with a meeting at 10 o'clock in the morning at the Georgia Power Company. Other meetings will be held in Macon, Augusta, Albany and Savannah.

Magdalena Petit, the Chilean author and musician, will be entertained at open house at 3 o'clock this afternoon in the Glenn building on the Emory University campus by the romance language department of the university.

Robert E. Lawson, senior in Woodrow Wilson College of Law, was elected an ex-officio member of all committees of the senior class and attorney for the class at a meeting last night. Lawson is an employee of the Georgia Power Company, and passed the bar examination after one year in law college.

J. W. Clarke Jr. Dies Here at 37

Joseph W. Clarke Jr., 37, of 1553 Westwood avenue, died Monday night at an Atlanta hospital after an extended illness.

He is survived by his father, Joseph W. Clarke Sr.; three brothers, George C. Clarke, of Cincinnati; J. H. Clarke, of Los Angeles, and S. J. Clarke, of Atlanta; and two sisters, Mrs. A. J. Allen and Mrs. B. L. Condrey, both of Atlanta.

Funeral services will be held at 9:30 o'clock tomorrow morning at St. Anthony's church, with the Right Rev. Monsignor Joseph Crooke officiating. Burial will be in Greenwood cemetery, with Awtry & Lowndes in charge of arrangements.

NLRB Orders Scripto To Bargain With CIO
WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—(AP)—The National Labor Board today ordered the Scripto Manufacturing Company, Atlanta, to bargain collectively with the CIO International Union of Aluminum Workers and rejected a company request that the union be incorporated.

The Scripto company was also directed to "cease discouraging" membership in the union and offer reinstatement with back pay to Kathryn Johnson, a time and record clerk who was discharged September 1, 1940. The board said she was discharged because she had filed unfair labor practice charges against the company.

W. H. Dodson, Ex-Union Aide, Is Indicted Here

Charge of Larceny After Trust Returned by Grand Jury.

Weyman H. Dodson, former secretary-treasurer of a labor union here, was indicted yesterday by the Fulton grand jury on a charge of larceny after trust of $1,116.93.

The alleged larceny took place over a year, ending July 25, 1941, it was charged. The indictment charged Dodson converted money to his own use that was entrusted to him by members of the United Brewery, Flour, Cereal and Soft Drink Workers of America, Local No. 350, and the names of approximately 100 members were listed as the owners of the funds involved. Dodson had not been arrested.

The jury also indicted a man listed as Bill Bayuse on a charge of assault with intent to murder County Policemen G. G. Cannon and E. P. Hornsby by firing a shotgun at them October 25. The jury returned 20 true bills and one "no" bill.

Pneumonia Fatal To Polio Victim

Jerry Edward Poston, 6-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Wade T. Poston, of 1948 Lakewood drive, S. E., a victim of infantile paralysis since last July, died in an Atlanta hospital yesterday of bronchial pneumonia, which developed over the weekend.

The boy was one of the first victims of paralysis last summer and had been in an iron lung since that time.

Besides his parents, he is survived by a sister, Barbara; a brother, Ray, and his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. O. K. Henley. Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at the chapel of Harry G. Poole, followed by burial in Hollywood cemetery. The Rev. Jesse Henderson will officiate.

$3,500,000 Loan To Pay Teachers

The Governor has negotiated a $3,500,000 loan with four Atlanta banks in order to pay school teachers the rest of the year, it was learned yesterday.

State Auditor B. E. Thrasher Jr. said the loan was obtained at an interest rate of three-eighths of one per cent per year until February 28, 1942. It is divided equally between the First National, Citizens & Southern National and Fulton National Banks and the Trust Company of Georgia.

2 More Nazis Reported Slain As Executions Are Suspended

Latest Assassinations of Occupying Army Officers Are Said To Have Occurred in Vicinity of Lille.

LONDON, Oct. 29.—(Wednesday)—(INS)—The assassinations of two additional German army officers in the Nazi-occupied part of France was reported by the Daily Mail today in a Madrid dispatch which said the Nazi authorities have refrained from announcing the new slayings, presumably out of a desire to prevent further aggravation of French feelings.

The two officers, the dispatch related, were shot and killed in the Lille area Monday by assailants who escaped.

This news, according to the Madrid message, "leaked out" of France into Spain Tuesday simultaneously with the announcement by General Otto Heinrich Stuepnagel, German commander-in-chief at Paris, that the scheduled executions of an additional 100 hostages at Nantes and Bordeaux had been indefinitely suspended.

One hundred hostages already had been put to death before Nazi firing squads at those French cities following the assassinations of two German officers, one each at Nantes and Bordeaux, last week.

The same dispatch said it was reported that a man arrested by the Germans because he was believed to have had important information regarding the two Frenchmen who killed the Nantes Nazi commandant had been found dead in a cell of the Nantes prison, killed by poisoning.

French circles were said to believe that this man had been "gotten out of the way" because he "knew too much."

LIGHTS ARE FLASHED AT NANTES FOR RAF

LONDON, Oct. 28.—(AP)—Residents of the German-occupied city of Nantes, scene of the recent assassination of the Nazi commandant, flashed lights in greeting to the RAF Sunday night as the British fighters dropped high explosives and incendiary bombs along with thousands of leaflets, the Air Ministry stated tonight.

Answering the leaflets which were described as "a message of hope for ultimate deliverance," some Nantes residents flung open their doors and lit up their houses "as though blackout curtains had been torn aside from the windows," the Air Ministry said.

Music Teacher Dies; Funeral Set for Today

Mrs. Clarabess Fambrough Was Native of Missouri.

Mrs. Clarabess Fambrough died yesterday morning at the residence of her son, C. C. Fambrough, 1405 Hartford avenue, S. W. She was born and reared in Brookfield, Mo., and came to Georgia to teach music and voice at the LaGrange Female College.

Later she taught at Piedmont Institute, Rockmart, where she lived for 34 years. She was a past president of the Rockmart Woman's Club. Since coming to Atlanta in 1928, she had been active in the LaGrange College Alumnae Association and the Society for Christian Service of the Capitol View Methodist church.

She is survived by three sons, C. C. Fambrough, J. A. Fambrough, of Raymondville, Tex., and E. W. Fambrough, of Grand Canyon, Ariz.; a sister, Mrs. Jack Hamlin, of Los Angeles; two brothers, J. G. Crain, of Los Angeles, and M. C. Crain, of Monterey, Mo., and a step-daughter, Mrs. A. F. Baker, of Glendale, Cal.

Funeral services will be held this morning at 10 o'clock at Spring Hill, the Rev. H. C. Stratton and the Rev. W. J. DeBardeleben officiating. Burial will be at Rockmart.

A Remarkable Statement of FACTS

A noted independent textile testing laboratory examined suits from six leading makers of branded and unbranded clothing in the Society Brand price zone. These experts compared the suits impartially on the basis of the quality of fabrics, trimming and make. They reported* as follows—

"Because of the superiority of Society Brand's 'make', especially in tailoring and the all-important but invisible element of SHAPING and PRESSING, together with the highly satisfactory quality of their fabrics and trimmings, we conclude that the consumer will be getting more for his money in Society Brand's suits than in any of the other five garments tested."

Need we say more, except to point out that in a period of rising prices and changing standards, the Society Brand label is your best protection for being certain of superior quality.

Formal Wear

Here are formal clothes you will enjoy wearing. When you slip on an easy, natural, good-looking Society Brand suit or tux, you feel comfortable, confident and "at home" in your clothes. Enjoyable to the fullest extent, they are the most functional, most comfortable, most stylish and superior workmanship in what you expect from Society Brand and what you should have in your formal.

A Fighting Speech

President Roosevelt's Navy Day speech can only be described as "a fighting speech." He was forceful, went directly to his point and followed the plain logic of recent international events to the inevitable conclusion.

The first shots between Hitler's Nazi forces and the American Navy have been fired. Fired by the Nazis. But, said the President: "In the long run, all that will matter is who fired the last shot."

He placed the United States unequivocally in the ranks of German foes when he said "we are pledged to pull our own oar in the destruction of Hitlerism."

Setting forth the determination of America to deliver, to the fighting democracies, those war materials which shall assure Hitler's defeat, he told how our ships have been fired upon and our sailors killed.

"Our determination not to take this lying down has been expressed in the orders to the American Navy to shoot on sight. Those orders stand."

Our President has spoken brave words, words which cannot be misunderstood on either side of the oceans. They are words which should be pondered deeply and seriously by all of the Axis powers, including Japan. They are words from which there can be no retreat with honor.

All that remains to be done is for the American people to stand united behind their chosen leader and by their mass determination and united effort to make good the words and make certain the elimination of Hitlerism from the world.

One of the first steps to assure such a united national front must be an end to the unwarranted strikes and lockouts in defense, or any, industry. The national patience with selfish, power-seeking labor leaders who willingly imperil the national safety for selfish ends is fast disappearing.

President Roosevelt took cognizance of this sweep of outraged public opinion in that part of his speech directed to John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, who has refused to call off a coal mine strike despite repeated appeals from the White House.

If organized labor, as a whole, is wise, it will disown such leaders as Lewis. The rank and file of union membership is as loyal as any American group. It has simply been misled by false leaders, has permitted such leaders to use it as a tool for unworthy purposes.

If organized labor does not clean its own house of such foes of America as Lewis, it will lose all public sympathy and drastic action will, in the words of Senator Connally, of Texas, "deal with the fourth member of the Axis (Lewis)."

At last report, Hitler was still 45 miles away from the documents proving that Britain intended to invade Russia.

Why the Charge?

Every person who drives an automobile on Atlanta's streets will be wholeheartedly behind the proposal to require semi-annual inspection of automobiles to assure proper functioning of safety devices. But the plan as outlined by city officials contains a joker that will not contribute to its success.

That joker is the proposed 50-cent charge for each inspection. Now one dollar a year isn't much to pay when failure to inaugurate the plan may result in an ever-increasing traffic casualty record for Atlanta. But to the automobile owner, who already bears a disproportionate share of the tax burden, it will make the plan distasteful.

Before final action is taken on the proposal Atlanta would do well to study the plan as operated in a sister city, Augusta. "Brake inspections" have been conducted there for several years. These inspections are made by regular employees of the police department at no cost to the automobile owner. The only cost to the city is the time of the officers making the inspections.

Why handicap a good plan unnecessarily?

Holy men, in parts of China, are still selling space in heaven to the peasantry at a few cents the square yard. Naturally the rate would be stiffer on business frontage.

The Fitness of Things

Americans, as a people, are prone to the creation of organizations. Clubs and committees, secret orders and chapters, sprout from the soil of American habit like weeds on a vacant field. There are committees for this or that or something else, on every hand. National committees and local branches, local committees with national affiliates. It is impossible to imagine the cause for which a committee of some kind could not be formed somewhere in America.

The latest of these committees for strange purpose, however, is the "Citizens' Committee to Free Earl Browder." Why any American citizens should disturb themselves in effort to free from deserved imprisonment an acknowledged Communist, a foe of the American system of government and an enemy to all things for which this nation stands, passes comprehension.

Yet there is such a committee. It has an office, and a telephone, on Broadway, New York, and it is busy sending out press notices and performing other activities, all for the purpose of releasing Browder from the federal penitentiary at Atlanta.

And, to cap the climax, Tom Mooney is chairman of this committee. Tom Mooney, who was himself the object of similar committees' solicitude during the many years he was himself in jail. Tom Mooney whose first act, freed, was to divorce the wife who had done more to secure his freedom than anyone.

Tom Mooney is now appealing, as chairman of the aforesaid committee, for all labor unions to join in a plea to President Roosevelt to open the penitentiary doors for Browder. Mooney describes Browder as "an outstanding fighter in the cause of labor." Surely a serious disservice to labor, to associate with it a self-acknowledged Communist.

Labor should be seeking to rid itself of the Communist influence, rather than championing the cause of a Communist in jail, where so many others of his ilk should be, for the good of the nation as a whole.

A woman who rifled her husband's clothes is denounced by a Texas court. And yet nothing makes for marital felicity like a spirit of optimism in the wife.

216 Pages

The biggest newspaper edition ever published in Georgia, 216 pages, constitutes the 50th anniversary number of The Albany Herald.

Since 1891 The Herald has served Albany and Southwest Georgia, giving to that section a paper of metropolitan style and proportions and contributing largely to the enviable growth and development of the city and section.

The Herald was founded by the late H. M. McIntosh, who was editor from 1891 to 1925. His son, H. T. McIntosh, has been president of the Herald Publishing Company and editor of the paper since.

The present editor has spent all of the half century since the paper began, save the first six months, with The Herald. He first went to work there in 1892. And, in the intervening years, he has grown with the paper. He witnessed its early struggles and saw it become strong and lasting. He has made of it the great paper it is today and he has, too, done so much for his section that the name of McIntosh is forever linked with Southwest Georgia.

The size of this anniversary number is tribute to the esteem in which The Herald is held. There are 359 display advertisements, occupying 21,074 inches of space. A single copy of the edition weighs about 3 1-2 pounds.

And, as further tribute to the paper and its staff, only two additional employees, an advertising salesman and a proof reader, were found necessary to produce this edition. Otherwise the paper was conceived, planned and produced in The Albany Herald plant by its regular editorial and advertising staffs and its mechanical force.

That is an achievement of which any paper could well be proud.

Not only The Herald, not only its editor, Mr. McIntosh, not only its staff, but all of Albany and of Southwest Georgia is to be congratulated for the possession of such a newspaper, of such a civic and community asset.

The latest from Naziland is that the boys are mercifully killing all the hopeless mental cases except those necessary to organize the new order.

Georgia Editors Say:

MISUSING FREE SPEECH

(From The Forsyth County News.)

The problem confronting every American today is not whether they like or dislike the British, but whether they choose to support the government of the United States in defending this nation from the aggression of Germany and her allies.

The conquest of Great Britain, and as it might be to millions of Americans, is not the concern of the government of the United States unless the fall of the British Empire aggravates the danger that besets this country. This is the conclusion officially arrived at by the congress and President of this republic. It is concurred in by three-fourths of our people.

The prevalence of free speech in this country ceases to be a virtue whenever it permits recalcitrant minorities to openly conspire against the success of national policy.

Surprising as it may sound to some Americans, the right of free speech is relative, as are all other rights, and should not be permitted to hamstring national defense or sabotage other rights of a free people.

WASHINGTON PARADE

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS.

MANY "STEPS TO WAR" WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—Just to keep the record straight, some administration supporter should take the floor of the senate during the current debate on neutrality act revision and recite the list of predictions made by isolationists on the United States entering the war.

Practically every major move made by the government so far, either in pursuance of accepted foreign policy or national defense, has been hailed by isolationists as a "step towards war."

Arranged in serial form, the list of dire predictions to anyone unfamiliar with the course of events would give the impression that we have taken so many steps toward war that the country long since must have closed whatever narrow gap there remained between a state of peace and actual hostilities. And yet, with the exception of a couple of brushes between our destroyers and Nazi submarines, we seem about as far away from active involvement in the European conflict as we were a year ago.

Strangely enough, although the predictions have been concerned almost entirely with European events, we actually today appear to be drawing nearer a war in the Pacific than in the Atlantic.

BEGAN LONG AGO It is difficult to say just how far back the isolationists began their doleful predictions. The isolationist movement was born during the summer of 1940 when President Roosevelt negotiated the exchange of 50 of our obsolete destroyers for naval bases on British possessions in western hemisphere waters. Noninterventionist and pacifist elements professed to believe that we had taken a great stride in the direction of open involvement.

In the same connection they made the charge up and down the country during the presidential campaign that Mr. Roosevelt's reelection would be a sure step toward war. One Republican senator was evidently so convinced of the soundness of the charge that he made a hundred-dollar bet after the President's election that we would be in the war by the end of April.

LEASE-LEND ACT Passage of the lease-lend bill was made the occasion for another round of doleful predictions. Furnishing Britain with needed equipment for resisting threatened Nazi invasion was a step so close to active participation that only a hair's breadth kept us out, or so the isolationists said at the time.

Then came our seizure of Axis merchant ships which had taken refuge in American ports at the outbreak of hostilities. Although international law clearly recognized our right to exercise such authority, the isolationists again made it a cause for repeating their familiar warning. It was another step toward war.

About that time, also, we ordered German and Italian consulates in the United States closed, because of evidence that they were engaging in espionage activities. The isolationists did not overlook the opportunity to move us up a further step.

When we moved into Iceland the headlines blared with their predictions so great that it was impossible to see how as much as an inch remained before we would step over the threshold. That was the final step, as the prophets of evil sought to have us believe.

"REALLY LAST STEP" Shortly thereafter there was a superfluous final step when one of our destroyers dropped some depth bombs at a Nazi undersea craft after a torpedo attack along the route to Iceland. President Roosevelt's order to the Navy following this, to shoot first in clearing American defense waters of enemy craft, was, according to the isolationists, really the last step.

Now the anvil chorus has started all over again as a part of the opposition to the pending neutrality act revision bill. For the next ten days—or however long the senate debate on the measure lasts—the country will be treated to a repetition of the same prophecies that have been made ever since European war events forced foreign policy to the forefront of national interest.

FULLY DISCREDITED Unless the country hurries and gets into the war, the isolationists are going to be so utterly repudiated as prophets that none of their predictions will ever again carry the weight of the paper they are printed on.

Charles Michelson, Democratic national committee publicity pundit, has likened the prediction to the old-time foretelling of an opera star. They kept coming back even though each one was announced as positively the last. It is the same with the current crop of isolationists, who will continue to proclaim each administration foreign policy move as a step toward war—final and irrevocable.

The country would do well to bear their past predictions in mind in giving heed to the alarmist utterances that will be heard during the pending debate.

SILHOUETTES

By RALPH T. JONES.

Machiavellian Cunning.

When I wrote that column for this space for Sunday last, all about my friend Lucy Randolph Mason, press agent for the CIO, I knew I'd draw a reply. In fact, I hoped so.

For, you see, I can publish her reply and thus make two good grow where only one grew before. That is the Machiavellian cunning of a guy who delights in tricking others into doing his work for him.

Anyway, Lucy Randolph has answered and, if you'll read her communication, I know you'll agree with me on one part of my analysis of her personality. That is, she is clever.

Here's what she has to say:

"Interest And Amusement."

Dear Mr. Jones: I read your "Silhouettes" column today with interest and amusement.

Thank you for making me feel my visits are welcome. Thus encouraged I shall come more often in the hope that my "ray of brightness" will become a floodlight on the connection between organized labor and democracy.

I am glad you like me—I like you, too.

When we first met I discovered that we want the same things—a good life for human beings under a truly democratic form of government. It is good that while we differ on parts of the program we can disagree with mutual respect for each other's integrity.

You are right, my friend, I do take my job seriously (even if your column today gave me a hearty laugh)—don't you take yours the same way?

I am afraid my brains are not as plentiful as you flatteringly say, otherwise long ago I would have made comprehensible to you why I believe that labor unions are one of the indispensable factors in maintaining and advancing democracy. For instance, we have discussed the contribution of unions to the high degree of democracy attained in Scandinavian nations.

You are wrong, my friend, I do not want to "compel" workers to belong to the CIO. I do want every worker to have opportunity to join a union of his choice—CIO or A. F. of L. When workers organize it is for their own volition and to secure the benefits it will bring them.

As to the closed shop—do you disapprove of the closed shop contracts the printing trades have with The Atlanta Constitution? Have they not meant responsibility and good relationships on both sides? Would you want to restore the open shop so long abandoned in the printing trades?

The closed shop means that workers who are enjoying the benefits brought by the union have a part in maintaining it. It is no hardship for a man whose wages are raised many dollars a month to pay a two or three dollar initiation fee to a CIO union, and thereafter monthly dues of $1 or $1.50. Further, the closed shop prevents the employer from using the nonunion workers to help undermine and destroy the union.

Some citizens resent paying taxes to the government in whose benefits and protection they share—let have it to do.

If you see any comparison between Hitler's totalitarian idea and the CIO you have indeed misunderstood the industrial union movement. When the present war is over this country will be infinitely better prepared to keep democracy if organized workers are able to share in solving the problems we will inevitably face.

We both want freedom and democracy, but along with them there must be a sound economic base for workers of all kinds. You seem to see these things achieved by individual effort. I see them realized by organized groups, cooperating with each other. In unity there is strength. So I take the CIO very seriously and regard it as one of the most hopeful movements in the world.

I indeed hope the most hopeful in American life today.

Sincerely yours,

LUCY R. MASON.

Where We Disagree.

Of course, conducting this column, I'd be silly if I didn't make sure to get in the last word, on any debate.

Glance back to Lucy Randolph's letter, paragraph seven. Where she says "... I do not want to 'compel' workers to belong to the CIO."

I'm glad she put that word "compel" in quotation marks, herself. There is significance to that little touch.

If I've yet to hear about any strike where a CIO union was demanding the "closed shop" or "union shop," where Lucy Randolph did not approve, in full, the union demands. And that "union shop" clause means simply this, neither more nor less. Everybody working in the factory must belong to the CIO, pay his dues, or else—lose his job.

That's the stumbling block in the case of the Atlantic Steel Company, of our own city. It is the sole cause of the strike Wrong John Lewis has called in the "captives" coal mines.

If that isn't compulsion, I don't know what is. Oh, no, my friend, we wouldn't "compel" you to join our union. Simply, if you don't you can get out, sans job, sans pay envelope.

We're not compelled to eat. We can starve to death, can't we?

Twenty-Five Years Ago Today.

FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER.

The opinions expressed by Mr. Pegler in this column are his own and do not necessarily represent the opinion of The Atlanta Constitution.

Consider THE UMW

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—Let us ignore for today the merits of John L. Lewis' case in the so-called captive coal mines whose product is used exclusively by companies which produce 80 per cent of the steel for national defense and consider the nature of the United Mine Workers and its government.

That Lewis is a dictator and that he rules the districts or subdistricts of his empire through satraps responsible and beholden to him alone is well understood and never denied in the union movement. His power is absolute and when it suits his purpose and his dictatorial character to appoint subalterns over the districts he does so in contemptuous violation of the democratic process which he and other professional unioners of the sinister subgovernment invoke when democracy seems more appetizing than absolutism.

Miners Powerless

The miners have no voice in the decisions made in their name, except occasionally when it is obvious to Lewis that they will sustain him. In other issues the decisions are made for them and they are informed of the course that they are to follow and required to obey.

Not even the scrubwomen and window washers who toiled for George Scallie had less influence in the affairs of their union than the miners have in the UMW under John L. Lewis. The scrubwomen and window washers had no more to say about the rates of their dues and fees and the expenditure of their money out of the central treasury and thus it was that Lewis, with the great treasury of the miners under his hand, was able to contribute or lend $500,000 toward the election of President Roosevelt at a time when the money was welcome.

Thus, also, the dues and fees of the miners to the extent of about $2,000,000 were lent or given like federal grants to the states, counties and cities, for the organization of CIO unions in other industries, including the editorial department of the American press. And thus, in these other fields of labor, Lewis gained a political power, which is not yet broken, although it may seem to be broken, just as the political power of the President was extended and entrenched by the distribution of money out of the national treasury in the form of loans and grants to the subdivisions of government and by the appointment of deserving New Dealers to positions of minor power.

Lewis, the politician and opportunist, once needed his old enemy, Will Green, the president of the AFL, with a faint glow of light in the leadership of AFL unions, but that was no true expression of his own attitude toward crooks and racketeers. He was content to reside in the house of labor with them for years and never raised his voice or hand against a crook or racketeer, as such, until a moment when he thought he could embarrass Green by mentioning these vermin.

Although his mine workers have taken a formal stand against Communists, Lewis cordially co-operated with them in the organization of the CIO and the explanation that he merely used them but reserved the power to destroy them when they had served their purpose for him is neither true in fact nor an indication of his attitude toward Communism. He has not been able to destroy them but, by his encouragement, has placed them in position of great power in some of the most dangerous areas of union organization, where they still rule in the name of Joseph Stalin.

And the evidence all shows that Lewis, as a man who desires and acquires power for its own sake to the total neglect or destruction of the rights of the rank and file, would be as comfortable running a Communist dictatorship in the United States as he is in a Hitleresque rulership of the American nation.

Ethics Revealed

His political ethics were revealed when he sullenly condemned President Roosevelt for his refusal to pay off the political obligation which he had bought with the $500,000 of the miners' money.

John Lewis is President Roosevelt's personal problem, for it was the early New Deal which raised him to power, knowing the sort of man he was, but underestimating the extent and unselfishness of his personal ambition. All the New Dealers then had reason to know how little Lewis cared for the democratic process, but then, and in fact, until two weeks ago, the advocates of the New Order in the United States were content to let the union run wild and get their growth by rough-and-tumble mischief at the expense of the whole country.

But a change of heart was indicated by the recent speech of Mr. Frances Perkins to the AFL in Seattle, delivered unquestionably, under instructions from the President, calling for strict self-regulation by the unions and, also, in a negative way, for the open shop, with a threat of legislative compulsion if the reform did not come from within.

Now Lewis, the dictator, has openly challenged the President on an issue in which the safety and the defense of the nation are at stake.

ONE WORD MORE

By RALPH MCGILL.

FIGHTING MAN All those at the Navy Day dinner were in accord. You could see that as they listened to Captain A. G. Talbot, of His Majesty's ship, the Illustrious.

He was talking about the war. He knows something about war. He was in the first World War. He has seen as much action as any commander in this second World War.

He is a good speaker, with a natural gift for expression. He held them all. Governor Eugene Talmadge, looking hale and hearty despite rumors to the contrary, moved not a muscle as the English captain spoke, and that in itself was a tribute, because the Governor has made and listened to a lot of speeches. In front of the speaker's table sat the Governor's handsome and popular son, Herman Talmadge, trim and straight in a naval uniform. (One of these days he will be heard from in the state's politics.) The Governor, quite honestly, was almost an isolationist when the war began, but, sitting there listening to the English captain and seeing his son in uniform out in front of him—the emotion of it got him. I could see that. I doubt if there is any of his isolationism left. Indeed, if there were any in that crowd who had any secret reservations, I imagined the sea captain fetched them.

He talked of the ships in the warm seas about the equator; of ships in the northern seas, their rigging thick with ice. He talked of the convoys that keep going on, with the sea men keeping them going. He told of a running fight between a submarine and a merchant ship which had a happy conclusion. He talked of missions done, of brave men doing their duty; of bombs and fire by night, of bombs and fire by day. He talked plainly, eloquently.

I kept wishing that all Georgia might have heard him. Not just those of us who already believe that we must assist England with all she needs to win this fight.

UNWELCOME GUEST Because an airplane carrier, with its broad, long deck, is an ideal target for bombers—

And because there are so few of them and their value is so great, they are a constant target and are greatly sought after by the enemy. No port likes to have them. They bring attack.

Not all of what he had to say could be written. Part of the story of H. M. S. Furious could be written because it had been released by the admiralty. He formerly commanded her. There were stories of forays against the Germans in far-flung corners of the world. There were stories of places visited and attacked that may not be told.

One item can be told. Once there was German fuel on the shore they had taken. The Furious had no fueling apparatus with her. The fire department in that captured country turned out and pumped fuel into the Furious' tanks.

Time came when the Furious was limping from wounds. She put in at a port and docked. That night the Germans, who had located her from reconnaissance planes, came with their bombers. The first ones dropped incendiary bombs. They burn, being chemical, with such a hot flame and for so long a time that, if left alone, they would have warped and bent the steel flight deck.

The first ones the officers knocked off with golf clubs. That was typically British.

Then they came by the hundreds and the whole crew was busy sweeping them off.

Great fires were lit. Fires raged on each side of them. Then came the bombers. One bomb crashed on through into the hold. There a fire began to rage. Nearby were torpedoes. Their "heads" were filled with TNT. They got hotter and hotter. Men stood there with their hands on their heads, gambling their lives the TNT would not explode. It did not.

Later there came bombers high in the air, dropping magnetic mines toward the ship. They came down by parachute, hundreds of them, the fire lighting them up so that troops from the shore fired at them.

The Furious is in this country now. She came here on her own power, riding out a hurricane on the way.

POSTAGE STAMP It was quite an evening. I have attended many Navy Day dinners. This was the best one. Commander Jesse Draper did himself proud with this one.

I am sorry, too, those impatient people did not hear this very patient man, the British captain, tell about the searches at sea. He told of the need for ships, and still more ships.

He illustrated, most graphically, the difficulties of the constant search for German raiders on the great Atlantic. We sat in a great dining hall which seated 500 persons.

"The vision of one searching ship and her range of search on the Atlantic," he said, "is comparable with the space a postage stamp would cover on the floor of this large room. If you add to that ship aircraft then you may put down a whole sheet of foolscap on the floor instead of the postage stamp. That will help explain why it is so difficult to find these raiders. If you add to the normal difficulties whole days and nights of fog and rain, then you may know how really difficult it is."

There were some RAF cadets present, visitors here from the flying field near Montgomery, where they are in training. Their first class graduates in January and goes back to England to fight.

The captain thanked, for himself, for them and for England, the people of Atlanta and of this country for their hospitality. It was a tense sort of evening, really.

We fought the English twice and beat them. We have quarreled, and will quarrel again, about their methods in business and in diplomacy. But there is no gainsaying the fact that we are one of their bone and blood of their blood. There is no gainsaying the fact that both of us believe in a way of life which offers the most to humanity and to civilization, faulty and often mistaken though that way at times may have been.

Group Okays Dudley Western Union, Glass Postal Merger

Interstate Commerce Committee of Senate Approves.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—(AP)—The Senate Interstate Commerce Committee unanimously recommended today that Congress permit a merger of the Western Union and Postal Telegraph companies.

The committee approved, with minor changes, a report on the proposed merger previously adopted by a subcommittee after nearly two years of legislative hearings. Senate Majority Leader Barkley, Democrat, Kentucky, a member of the committee, said that the next step would involve introduction of actual legislation carrying out the proposed recommendations involving nearly 60,000 workers and the two largest domestic telegraph companies.

The senate group recommended that the federal communications act be amended to permit the merger now blocked by federal antitrust laws. It suggested that "international" and "domestic" telegraph facilities be separated and that the FCC be required to enforce this separation.

It also suggested that all pension rights and payments of employees of the two companies be protected and that all public communications services and rights be respected.

The report also asked that financial structures of the resulting companies be simplified and 80 per cent owned by American nationals.

Orphan Annie—Asp; Gangsters, and Law Vs. Results

that the Asp let 'em run and mowed 'em down. Still, in the face of whatever protests may arise, I'm rather in agreement with the Asp. They were bad guys. If he'd turned them over to their home county sheriff they'd have hired a lawyer and made bond and started back making more trouble—and costing the taxpayers a lot of money.

The FBI—or G-Men—adopted a policy a few years ago which may have been borrowed from the Vigilantes of California in the Forty-niner period. They shot 'em first and argued afterward. The case of Mr. Dillinger, for instance. No sane citizen believes in lynch law. But sometimes a majority of sane citizens grows weary of the routine of arrests, out-on-bond, continuances, mysterious disappearance of witnesses, perhaps a conviction—and then a parole or a pardon. We might consider a few cases in Georgia.

The G-Men kinder figured out a system. If they brought in a handcuffed prisoner they might have to start all over again pretty soon. But a corpse has no money with which to pay a "mouthpiece" and arrange bond and hire an influential attorney to appeal to a Governor he'd helped elect. No body is interested in a gangster's corpse. Except other gangsters who used to send several thousand dollars worth of flowers to his funeral.

It occurs to me that it's been some time since I read about a gangster's funeral, with enough flowers to cover a city cemetery knee-deep, and a thousand limousines in the procession.

Maybe this display of grief and affection has gone out of style. Or maybe the G-Men's unofficial policy of bringing in a corpse instead of an indignant defendant has had its effect.

Have You Runcibles?

Here's the answer to a problem which I am sure must have caused many sleepless nights for housewives worried about what's the correct thing and where to place the toothpicks on the formal dinner table.

Someone has inquired of a syndicate authority: "What is a runcible spoon?"

"Friends, that would get me. It would ever get anybody on 'Information Please.' I'll bet. We have spoons at our house—tea, table, soup and a few others I've never figured out. But I never went against a runcible spoon because we rarely serve runcibles, even when there's a company coming in. I'll wager, however, that a runcible tastes good. It sounds that way.

But the answer is, according to this authority, that a runcible spoon is a kind of fork with three broad prongs, of which one has a sharp edge—to spear pickles.

The dinner we had arranged for a group of intelligentsia has been postponed to an indefinite date, to be announced later. Until we can acquire a few runcible spoons. We have the forks.

Good Morning

By LOUIE D. NEWTON.

THE RAIN.

Yesterday I wrote about rain-fall, and about the long drouth which has held much of our southern country in its withering grip, showing a deficiency for the year, on Monday morning of this week, of 15.08 inches. And now, in the early afternoon of Monday, all this section of the state, I trust, is enjoying along with us in the Atlanta area, a gentle, steady rain. I have not talked with Mr. Mindling today, and I have been a little afraid to ask him if there is indication that the rain will continue, lest he should have to say that it may not.

This rain, now falling, will be worth untold blessing to this section—to fall gardens, the grain crop, to all vegetation, to the water supply for electric power, and on and on.

I was trying to voice my own sense of gratitude, as I walked about in the backyard in the rain, and there in the tallest oak tree a mockingbird lifted its wings in token to hearty enjoyment of the rain and then burst into a great anthem of praise. The bird had a throat with which to express what was in my heart.

And I came back to my study

Carl Sandburg Will Appear on Lecture Series

Famed Poet To Speak at Glenn Memorial Monday Night.

Carl Sandburg, poet and biographer, speaking Monday night, will be the first of a series of notable lecturers to be heard in Atlanta this season under the auspices of the Student Lecture Association.

The son of a poor family, Sandburg was forced to work at the age of 13 as a milk wagon driver in Chicago. From that job he advanced to a position as a porter in a barber shop, then a scene shifter in a theater and later as a harvest hand in Kansas.

In a few years' time he found himself in Puerto Rico as a soldier in the United States Army. Returning to the states, he obtained employment as an advertising manager in a department store and later became secretary to the mayor of Milwaukee. In 1918 he was a foreign correspondent in Stockholm.

Called "America's most truly native poet," Sandburg, in addition to his poetry, has written six volumes of biography on Abraham Lincoln and, as a result, was recently elected to the American Academy of Arts and Letters.

He will lecture Monday night at Glenn Memorial auditorium, using as his subject, "The Laughter of Lincoln."

Times for the lecture may be obtained at Davidson's or Rich's and at the auditorium door the night of the lecture. The admission will be 75 cents.

Other lecturers obtained for the season, according to the association, are John T. Whitaker, foreign correspondent; Cornelia Otis Skinner and Julien Bryan.

East's Gas Stores Show Small Drop

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—(AP)—Supplies of gasoline on the eastern seaboard and in the Appalachian area dipped slightly in the week ended October 25, the American Petroleum Institute reported today.

On the east coast stocks of finished and unfinished gasoline totaled 19,547,000 barrels against 19,559,000 in the preceding week and in the Appalachian area the total was 3,149,000 compared with 3,216,000 a week earlier. Restrictions against sale and the rationing system imposed by the government several months ago in both areas were lifted in the past week.

The daily average crude oil production for the entire country decreased 1,750 barrels to 4,098,800 barrels from a week earlier and compared with 3,640,300 barrels daily a year ago.

Total gasoline stocks of the nation rose 759,000 barrels in the latest week to a total of 83,343,000 barrels, the report disclosed. A year ago the figure was 79,800,000 barrels.

Democratic Women Plan Defense Study

Woman's Division To Hold Party Session at St. Simons.

The national defense program will be a prominent subject of discussion Tuesday and Wednesday when the woman's division, Democratic Party Organization of Georgia, meets at the King and Prince hotel at St. Simons Island, Georgia.

Mrs. Max E. Land, president of the division, announced yesterday that Mrs. Ellen Woodward, only woman member of the Social Security Board and a member of the Volunteer Participating Committee for Civilian Defense, of Washington, D. C.; Colonel Irvine Belser, liaison representative of the Fourth Corps Area, are two of the prominent speakers scheduled to speak on defense activities and the part the women of the nation should take.

Mrs. Woodward, daughter of the late United States Senator William V. Sullivan, is a native of Mississippi. She is the author of many articles on home economics, hygiene, private nursing and public health nursing.

While at St. Simons, delegates to the convention will be entertained at a tea at the Brunswick estate of Cator Woolford, prominent Atlantian.

The woman's division of Glenn County Democrats will act as hosts during the convention.

By GEORGE B. ANDERSON.

A woman friend of my wife's, planning a Halloween party, decided to do her shopping for favors and decorations early. She went into a good department store and asked to see their stocks of hobgoblin and witch knickknacks.

The clerk showed her a few rather ordinary decorations and then pulled out a box, opening it with some tenderness. "Of course," she said, pride in her voice, "these are the best. These are the ones we're going to advertise."

The woman said, telling the story to my wife, that she hadn't thought much about it at first. Later, she'd realized what a boon to busy housewives the basic idea behind that clerk's statement was: "Of course, these are the best. These are the ones we're going to advertise."

Every store likes to put its best foot forward, so naturally every advertiser uses his advertising space to tell us about the best values in his store. He may have a lot of "average" or "fair" things that he'd like to sell, but he wants to get your attention and your patronage, so his advertising doesn't talk about those things. It tells you about the best values, regardless of price range.

You could shop a good-sized store for a day and not know whether or not you had uncovered the best value in any particular item in that store—but you can shop the same store's advertising for five minutes and be sure that you have the information you want.

Good advertising assumes you are a hard-to-please customer, and it shows you the best that every advertiser can afford. In so doing, it saves you money and minutes.

Clemency Plea Refused Eidson Forster and Lee

State Body Declines Mercy for Pair in Klan Floggings.

The State Prison and Parole Commission yesterday declined to recommend clemency for Dan Eidson and Walter Forster, convicted in connection with the East Point Ku Klux whippings, and J. D. Lee, convicted murderer.

Chairman Clem Rainey confirmed the commission's action without comment.

Eidson and Forster were sentenced to pay a $1,000 fine each and serve 12 and six months terms in jail. Both are serving their sentences in Fulton county. Lee, who was sentenced to life in 1934 for the murder of Bennie Lichtenstein, is in Tattall prison.

Your Horoscope for Today

By ALICE DENTON JENNINGS, Noted Atlanta Chirologist.

What today means to you if you were born between:

March 21st and April 19th (ARIES)—More success will be attained through sticking to routine. Be deliberate in what you do, and do not undertake affairs impulsively. The best aspects of the day operate during the period previous to noon.

April 20th and May 20th (TAURUS)—An excellent day for putting into effect ideas that have been carefully thought out concerning social activities. A good day for seeking favors and contacting superiors. The best part of the day is previous to 3:30 p. m.

May 21st and June 20th (GEMINI)—During the morning hours and until 3:45 p. m. favors putting plans into action, general business endeavors, conferences and diplomatic dealings. The remainder of the day and evening is likely to be filled with changeable moods, and you may encounter those who are not decided in their opinions. This is not an especially auspicious time to make moves, but to use discretion and moderation.

June 21st and July 22nd (CANCER)—Previous to 3 p. m. may be considered an unimportant time for accomplishment, but this time may be very important for an unfavorable way if you allow yourself to be careless, vacillating, or if you enter into arguments. Between 3 p. m. and midnight favors literary and educational pursuits.

July 23rd and August 22nd (LEO)—Previous to 1:15 noon favors general business activities, dealings with executives and officials and seeking favors. Between 1:15 noon and 11:07 p. m. discretion should be used around liquids and firearms.

August 23rd and September 22nd (VIRGO)—Previous to 12:36 p. m. favors study, literary affairs, correspondence, communications, dealings with close kin, but does not especially favor dealings with older people or getting things done quickly. Between 12:36 p. m. and 7:39 p. m. deliberate action should be given to all matters, avoid nervous haste, strain and overwork.

September 23rd and October 22nd (LIBRA)—This should be a most fortunate day for putting into practice your ideas of a creative nature, favorable for making changes, contacting friends, for work that requires energy and muscular effort.

October 23rd and November 21st (SCORPIO)—The period does not appear to be a favorable time for indulging in financial extravagance. An excellent day to stick to routine matters. The best aspects of the day operate between 1:10 p. m. and 3:30 p. m.

November 22nd and December 21st (SAGITTARIUS)—An excellent day for almost anything. New projects, new interests, financial decisions should be advantageous. The best aspects of the day operate previous to 7 p. m.

December 22nd and January 19th (CAPRICORN)—Throughout the day and until 5:32 p. m. favors the beginning of almost anything that is important. An excellent time to advance business interests, whether commercial or artistic. After 5:32 p. m. favors travel, dealings with brothers and sisters.

January 20th and February 18th (AQUARIUS)—The period previous to 3:13 p. m. favors general business, legal consultations and contacting those capable of giving good counsel. The period favors after 3:13 p. m. and continuing throughout the evening hours favor attending to personal matters rather than attempting new or important changes.

February 19th and March 20th (PISCES)—An excellent day to put your best foot forward. The day favors consultations, financial interests, educational, experiments and sociability.

'Skeleton in Closet' Presented by Steve, Loreli on Air Tonight.

Appropriate to Halloween is "The Skeleton in the Closet," which the producers of "Big Town," the Edward G. Robinson program, have scheduled tonight over CBS and WGST. Ona Munson will be heard opposite Robinson.

Written by Paul Franklin and Hector Chevalier, the story reveals how Steve Wilson, the managing editor of the Illustrated Press in Big Town, discovers that the opposition paper, the Chronicle, is stealing his "exclusive" stories. Before Steve has a chance to inaugurate a plan to stop the "leak" in his organization, the Chronicle, taking the initiative, reverses the situation by accusing him of stealing their exclusives and threatens to sue the Illustrated Press. Then Steve sets a trap to catch the offenders which inadvertently involves him in a series of situations which have a definite comedy flavor.

General Gage Now Defender Of New York

Ex-Atlantan Has 'Warm' Reception Planned for Invaders.

By HAROLD MARTIN.

If any enemy should come under the sea or over the sea or through the air to make a pass at New York city he would receive a reception so warm even the tall spires of Manhattan might tremble at the thunder of it.

The chairman of the welcoming committee in such a case would be a slender, sharp-eyed Brigadier General named Philip S. Gage. Atlantan will remember him well, because for six years, from 1930 to 1936, he was stationed here as executive officer of the Fourth Coast Artillery district. His rank then was colonel and his job was not one which required prodigious labor.

For the past year, though, he has been one of the busiest men in the United States, with one of the most important jobs. His title is now commanding general of the harbor defenses, Sandy Hook, and his job is to protect the outer defenses of that mammoth city from whatever might come against it.

Defense Secrets.

Just how this defense is set up and how it would work in case of invasion of any sort, whether merely a "token" raid by air or an all-out effort by air and sea, he can't say for publication, of course.

But he will say this. Guns (and that means big ones) mines, planes and anti-aircraft are all co-ordinated to do the job. And they are on the alert every minute. Guns are manned and ready 24 hours a day, every day, Sundays and holidays too. There isn't a second when the defenses at Fort Hancock, on Sandy Hook, and Fort Tilden, facing Hancock across the Ambrose Channel on Far Rockaway, aren't ready to go into action.

The general feels that his command, in the truest sense, is in the "front lines" of America's land defenses. Past his guns pass vessels bearing millions of tons of supplies we are shipping to England. Past them from the other way, if anybody were foolish enough to try it, would come the invasion. To see that the former get safely out and on their way, and to see that the latter never get anywhere within striking distance, is all he's got to worry about.

Figuring that the best way to defend against attack is to repel attack, he keeps his command on its toes by theoretical invasions now and then. Fort Tilden's forces sometimes go over and "take" Fort Hancock. Not long ago, there was a surprise attack by Hancock on Tilden.

These little maneuvers, the general feels, keeps the boys on their toes. It keeps their eyes and ears alert and their trigger fingers supple.

The general not only has to keep his mind on what might come from the direction of Europe. With New York at his back, he knows that spies, saboteurs and various gentry of such ilk are lurking beyond the reservation gates itching to get in and do some damage. That's why it's about as easy to get on either of the two government reservations as it is to walk into a United States mint wearing a mask and carrying a sack.

Some Get In.

Now and then somebody does get in, of course. But by methods which the general does not reveal, they are soon found out and are turned over to the gentle ministrations of the FBI. That happens every once in a while.

What with the job he has on his hands, and the expansion which is going on around his place at present, the general hasn't had a chance to get away on even a brief leave since he took over the job a year ago. He got a break recently though. He was told to go down and take a look at the maneuvers in Carolina.

So he came on down here to say "hello" to a lot of old friends, and to bounce his grandchildren on his knee while visiting his daughter and her husband, the Devereux Lippitts, at their home near Roswell.

"I look upon Atlanta as home," the general says. "It's more like home than any place I know."

Housewife Spurns

Proffered $10 Bill

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Oct. 28.

(P)—An announcer for a radio station mobile unit called at the home of a contest prize winner to deliver a $10 bill.

The housewife shouted down the stairs: "I don't want any," apparently thinking the caller was a salesman.

The announcer carefully explained he was giving her a prize. "I don't want any $10," she retorted emphatically, so emphatically the announcer was convinced.

Savannah Homes

Named for Bartow

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—(P)—

The name "Stonewall Jackson Homes" was announced tonight by the Federal Works Agency for a defense housing development near the municipal airport at Charlotte, N. C. The dwellings are for families of enlisted personnel at the Army Air Base. The Housing Authority of Charlotte proposed the name, the agency said, Stonewall Jackson having been there.

A development of 150 dwellings at Savannah, Ga., will be called "Francis Bartow Place" in honor of Brigadier General Bartow, a distinguished citizen of Savannah during the 19th century. The name was proposed by the Savannah Housing Authority.

Jury Will Receive

Blount Case Today

Case of George C. Blount, former state highway engineer on trial in federal court for 10 days on a charge of using the mails to defraud, will reach the jury today.

Both the government and defense rested yesterday, and arguments, limited to an hour and a half for each side, are slated to begin at 10 o'clock this morning.

The final witnesses of nearly a score placed on the stand by United States Attorney Lawrence S. Camp were James L. Gillis, a member of the State Highway Board from February, 1937, to April, 1940, and Dick Williams, secretary-treasurer of the Highway Department.

Peruvian Leader Asks

New Defense Conference

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—(P)—

Rafael Larco Herrera, first vice president of Peru, declared tonight that he thought a new conference of the 21 American republics should be called "to decide how all the Americas can contribute to the defense of the Americas."

"Today the United States is shouldering the burden (of hemispheric defense) and that is not just," said Larco Herrera. He is just completing an intensive study of defense preparations in this country.

Greeks Encouraged

In Broadcast by King

LONDON, Oct. 28.—(P)—King George II, of Greece, broadcasting to his people on the first anniversary of the Italian attack upon Greece, declared today that her fight against the Axis goes on both inside and outside the country.

Greek land, sea and air forces carry on as British Allies, he said. He told the people that their "great national treasure" remained intact and was being increased and consolidated.

179th Gunners Ready To Join Carolina Games

Atlanta's Own Outfit Will Be Attached to Yankee Division.

By SERGEANT J. C. HODGES JR., 179th Field Artillery.

CAMP BLANDING, Fla., Oct. 28.—At dawn tomorrow, Atlanta's own, the 179th Field Artillery, will begin the long two-day trek towards its first major battle—even if mock—since its induction into the regular Army.

Precisely at 6 a. m., the head of the column will move through "D" gate of Blanding after having had their eggs and hot coffee in the dark. Tomorrow night the regiment will bivouac in Savannah and late Thursday night they will move into the concentration area near Chester, S. C.

Real Soldiers Now.

They will be attached to a "Yankee" division—commanded by Georgian, Brigadier General Hester. Throughout the Carolina maneuvers, the 85th (Yankee) Infantry Brigade will have the artillery support of the boys from Atlanta.

The 179th that will go into battle is not to be compared with the bunch of raw recruits who pulled out of a bitter cold Atlanta eight months ago. Regular meals, regular hours of sleep, a blazing hot Florida sun, plus the drill sergeants who backed commands and "ready heaves" to the gun crews, have worked wonders and made real men out of a lot of boys.

Morale in the regiment is high. The thought of leaving calisthenics, guard mount and afternoon parade to enter the games of fighting has caused no casualties among the privates.

Veterans of Regiment.

The men will travel with only wartime equipment. No luxuries allowed. "Tin-hats" and three blankets who backed commands will be the essential equipment.

The selectees, now veteran members of the regiment, are as anxious as the Atlanta boys to establish a good record in the forthcoming maneuvers.

In fact, only one member really wishes to remain, this is Puny, First Battalion Service Battery's newest recruit.

Puny is a razorback porker, enlisted by Mess Sergeant Steve Koplos on a recent field problem. Apparently an orphan, a few weeks old he was taken off a rather scarce diet of acorns, roots, etcetera, and transported into the land of plenty. Ample beer and oodles of nice garbage have caused him to gain so that he now weighs close to three pounds. He was telling one of the K. P.'s the other afternoon that he "likes the Army fine; in fact he might make it a career," and last, and this time the K. P. agreed: "Home was never like this."

Public Works Body

Names Georgian

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 28.—(P)—

Frederick T. Paul, city engineer of Minneapolis, today was elected president of the American Public Works Association in convention here.

Henry L. Howe, Rochester, N. Y., was elected first vice president; Frederick R. Storrier, Dearborn, Mich., second vice president; and Stuart M. Weaver, Montclair, N. J., treasurer.

Veterans' awards were presented tonight to three city engineers who have completed 30 years of continuous service.

The medals were presented by P. L. Brockway, city engineer of Wichita, Kan., to Guy Brown, St. Louis; H. R. Moulthrop, Rochester, N. Y., and W. D. Willigerod, Orange, N. J.

The associated selected William A. Xanten, of Washington, and J. M. Graddy, of Columbus, Ga., new members of the board of directors.

Mother and Son

Burn to Death

SPECIAL TO THE CONSTITUTION.

MILLEDGEVILLE, Ga., Oct. 28.

Mrs. Dorothy Fox Gladins, 28, and her two-year-old son, Richard, were burned to death early yesterday morning when fire of undetermined origin destroyed their home near McIntyre.

Neighbors discovered the blaze and roused the father, P. B. Gladin, and other son, P. B. Jr., but the victims were already trapped in the blazing room.

Funeral services were held this morning at the graveside in Camp Creek cemetery.

Surviving Mrs. Gladin besides the husband and son, are four sisters, Mrs. Pete Papas and Mrs. Arthur McCall, both of Macon; Mrs. Edwin Turlington, of Atlanta, and Mrs. M. F. Ellis, of Houston, Texas.

Vatican Buyer of Food

Supplies Flies to U. S.

VATICAN CITY, Oct. 28.—(P)—

A Vatican City news service said today that Enrico Galeazzi, chief of economic services and former Knights of Columbus representative here, had flown to the United States to buy supplies for Vatican City's 700 inhabitants.

Galeazzi was one of a delegation of three who left recently for Portugal on a buying mission.

Dutch Royalty Will Visit

Roosevelts at Hyde Park

OTTAWA, Oct. 28.—(P)—

Princess Juliana of the Netherlands and her children, Princess Beatrix and Irene, who have been living in Ottawa, will be guests of President and Mrs. Roosevelt at Hyde Park, N. Y., during the coming weekend, it was announced today.

P.T.A. Hears Sally Saver on Defense Foods

Simpler Products Held Best for Meeting Nutrition Needs.

Sally Saver, foods editor of The Constitution, addressed the Hoke Smith Junior High School P.T.A. yesterday on the part nutrition has to play in the national defense program.

The average American diet, Miss Saver pointed out, is short in calcium and Vitamin "B," and she said milk, milk products, whole grains and enriched cereals and bread were the simplest and best sources of the missing food values.

Miss Saver outlined menus for supplying the nutrition needed by both adults and children for health and emphasized that the simpler and least expensive foods were the best.

Rams--A Painless Men's Club, With No Red Tape and Detail

By SALLY FORTH.

THE RAMS, as you know, is strictly a masculine organization—one that describes itself as "a painless men's club, with a minimum of red tape and detail, organized with the sole idea of sponsoring a good cause, and having a good time in doing so." The "good cause," of course, is the Rabun Gap-Nacoochee school, and, in case you don't remember, the Rams are the husbands and friends of the members of the Rabun Gap-Nacoochee Club. You see, the young matrons who comprise the club worked so hard and so earnestly on their recent horse show, that their husbands could not sit idly by without lending a helping hand. Accordingly, they organized and immediately planned a party to help raise funds for the barn the club intends to build at the mountain school. The Rams have no president, but Betty Meriwether, as the Rabun Gap Club's efficient leader, Sally FORTH strongly suspects her husband, "Happy" Meriwether, and her brother, Pete Little, as the modest and sympathetic "powers behind the scenes." The only officers are the treasurer, Frank T. Davis, and the secretary, James V. Calhoun.

The Rams' party, of course, is the tea-dance to be held at Brookhaven after the Tech-Duke football game next Saturday. And, for your information, it will not be an ordinary tea-dance, for the Rams do not do things in an ordinary way. They have planned a number of surprise features that will be particularly appropos after a football game, with several prizes awarded during the course of the afternoon.

Further insuring you of a good time at the party, here are the members of the dance committee: Clement Ford, Jack Wooding, Warren Bearden, John Cook, Sam Worley, John Morris, Joe Westbrook, Horace Collinsworth, Delkin Jones, Albert Alexander, Adna North, Cronin Partridge, Frank Rowsey, Kenneth Meredith, Charles Winslow, Curtis Lehner, Don Shepherd, William Farnsworth, John Rittelmeyer, Jim Carlton, Sam Meyman, Warren Hall, Charles Meriwether and Perryman Little.

DEBUTANTE Betty Hoyt is the "Girl of the Week" at the University of Georgia, where she is a student, this being one of the most coveted honors possible for a co-ed to attain!

It is of special significance when an Atlanta girl is chosen for such an honor—for alas, feminine students from this city enrolled at "Georgia" are referred to as "Pinks." The exact definition of the word "pink" has never, to Sally's knowledge, been decided, but it indicates a certain haughtiness of which boys at the university have accused Atlanta girls since time began! So, it is doubly to Betty's credit that she was chosen "Girl of the Week."

Last Friday's issue of the Red and Black, top-rating campus newspaper, carried a charming picture of the popular deb, with the following comment: "And here is another lassie, chums, who takes the prize piece of birthday cake any day in the week... it's lovely, feminine BETTY HOYT... who is as swell as they come... and who doesn't act like she's from Atlanta at all... she's as much a lady as MRS. VAN ASTOR ever was."

"SWEET ADELIN" has transferred from the University of Georgia to Oglethorpe University, but, according to rumor, she continues to be the light of a certain famous football player's life!

The romance is one of long standing—and even made headlines once! Although some believe it was but a "passing fancy," Sally FORTH is informed that it is altar-bound!

The grid star uses his few off moments to come to Atlanta to see her—and she frequently goes to Athens to be with him. Watch this romance. It is destined to make headlines again!

THE TELEPHONE at the Willis Everett home on Rivers road is always ringing with calls for the popular school belle of the family, Mary Campbell. But one night last week a call came through which caused a ripple of excitement through the household.

When Mary Campbell went to the phone to accept her call, the operator informed her that Groton, Mass., was calling, and when the connections were made she heard the voice of Stephen Ives Jr. telling her in ex-

Your Daughter Has a Right to Know

It is every mother's duty to tell her daughter physical facts. How much better that she learn them from her mother than from girls her own age. In feminine hygiene, facts may be distorted, or wholly untrue. Result, many brides use douches of over-strong solutions of acids which can actually burn or scar delicate tissues. Today, there is no need to use such deadly solutions. Science has given us Zonite. Non-poisonous, non-caustic, yet kills germs, bacteria on contact. Actually destroys undesirable odors. Protects personal cleanliness. Most important, safe for delicate tissues. Over 20,000,000 bottles already bought. Free Book Tells Intimate Facts. Give your daughter this frankly written booklet, "Feminine Hygiene Today," which you can get FREE, sent to you postpaid in plain wrapper. Send name and address to Zonite Products Corporation, Dept. 347-A 370 Lexington Ave., New York, N. Y.

Miss Eleanor Deas Will Be Honored

Miss Eleanor Deas will be feted extensively prior to her marriage on November 15 to Clarence Shipley. On November 5 Miss Dorothy Henry will entertain for Miss Deas at a bridge party at her home on Ponce de Leon avenue. On November 7 Mrs. James Watkins will give a luncheon at Davidson's for the popular young bride-elect. Mrs. Stiles Kellett has planned a dessert-bridge to be given November 8 at her Peachtree residence. On November 10 Mrs. Margaret Stephens will give a dinner party at the Ansley Hotel Rainbow roof for Miss Deas and Mr. Shipley. On November 12, Mrs. Gordon McKenzie Jr., of Ashburn, has planned a luncheon for the future bride at Davidson's. After the wedding rehearsal on November 14, the bride-elect's brother and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Harold M. Deas, will be hosts at a party at Druid Hills Golf Club.

Misses Elizabeth Davis and Barbara Lee Murlin are among others who will fete Miss Deas, the dates to be announced later. Those who are living: Mesdames Z. I. Fitzpatrick, Harvie Jordan, J. E. Hayes, Charles Haden and Howard McCall.

A publishing house recently requested the privilege of publishing a volume of Mrs. Maxwell's literary works, and it is a source of gratification that such is being prepared for publication. One volume will contain eight original monologues. The other will be a publication of four religious and four non-religious plays.

Here's how the chorines looked as rehearsals got under way yesterday for the Junior League's Silver Jubilee Follies, to be presented at the Erlanger theater on December 5 and 6. The trio, who are, left to right, Mrs. Gus Ashcraft, Mrs. C. D. McCord and Mrs. Bradford McFadden, are being put through the routine by Alfred Burke, of Ohio, who will direct the production.

Atlanta Junior League Begins Rehearsals For Its Mammoth Silver Jubilee Follies

By HELEN CLARKE BENEDICT.

Short and tall, fat and skinny, brunets, blonds and redheads, in fact, all sizes, shapes and types of feminine pulchritude garbed in left-over summer shorts, slacks and play suits hesitantly and confidently assembled yesterday before the experienced eye of Alfred Burke, director of the Junior League Silver Jubilee Follies.

The occasion was the first "honest to goodness" rehearsal (or exhibition of hidden talents for 30 or 40 Leaguers) for members who aspire to a brief career behind the footlights. Mr. Burke promptly called the chorine aspirants to order to rank them according to size.

Music furnished by a feminine pianist warned the would-be Pavlovas that they were about to demonstrate their tersichorean ability. Mr. Burke patiently and effortlessly executed the various steps, slowly at first for the benefit of the "stiff-in-the-jointers," and gradually increasing the tempo. Not to be pampered, the chorines were hustled from forward and diagonal kicks to soft-shoe dancing—gracefully, passably and clumsily—without a pause to catch a breath. A seemingly interminable length of time ensued before the agile director announced a "pause to refresh," with the chorines coming to a halt, huffing and puffing unreservedly. In the period of one hour, Mr. Burke deftly put his pupils through routines of four or five skits before dismissing them with the encouraging remarks, "You've done wonderfully, see you tomorrow at 10."

This was the beginning of six weeks of rehearsals for the mammoth Silver Jubilee Follies scheduled for December 5 and 6 at the Erlanger theater.

Girl Scout Council Holds Meeting.

Mrs. Ben Smith was introduced as a new member of the Atlanta Girl Scout Council by Mrs. Charles Shepard, membership chairman, at the recent meeting. Mrs. S. G. Stukes reported that groups in District I has been organized at Samuel Inman school and Winona Park school in Decatur, and Mrs. Rogers Noble announced the organization of groups in the Ahavath Achim Center, at Second-Ponce de Leon Baptist church, Westminster Presbyterian church, Garden Hills.

Mrs. Linton Lewis reported new groups in Ben Hill, Capitol View Methodist church and at Ragsdale school. Mrs. William Mitchell, training chairman, reported that the group leadership course has been completed with 33 leaders attending. Due to the demand, a second course for new leaders is being planned for October 27. Mrs. Arthur L. Harris, Community Fund team leader, gave final instructions. An open house at the new offices of the Girl Scouts in Rich's is planned for the week of November 10.

Shell-Parrott. GRIFFIN, Ga., Oct. 28.—Mr. and Mrs. Richard F. Shell, of Turin, announce the marriage of their daughter, Emily Warthen, to Lloyd Ferrell Parrott, of Newnan, which was solemnized by Rev. D. P. McGeachy in the Presbyterian study in Decatur. Mr. and Mrs. Parrott reside in Griffin.

Steak Fry Held.

The investigations division of the Fifth District, United States Civil Service Commission, held a steak fry at North Fulton park recently in honor of the new men who recently joined the force and those who were leaving for stations in the district. Serving on the entertainment committee were Mr. and Mrs. Herick Z. McConnell, Mrs. Ann Jackson and Francis McCullough.

Club sponsors an indoor circus at the city auditorium at 3 o'clock.

Annual pilgrimage of the Young Matrons' Circle to the Tallulah Falls school takes place beginning at 8:30 o'clock.

Mother, This Home-Mixed Cough Relief Is Wonderful

Saves Real Money.

No Cooking. Quick Results. To get the most surprising relief from coughs due to colds, you can easily prepare a medicine, right in your own kitchen. It's very easy—a child could do it—needs no cooking, and tastes so good that children take it willingly. But you'll say it beats them all for quick results.

First, make a syrup by stirring 2 cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. Then get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any drugist, and pour it into a pint bottle. Then add your syrup.

This gives you a full pint of really splendid cough syrup—about four times as much for your money. It never spoils, and lasts a family a long time.

And for real, quick relief, it can't be beaten. It acts in three ways—loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and helps clear the air passages.

Pinex is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, well known for prompt action in coughs and bronchial irritations. Money refunded if it doesn't please you in every way.

Crisp Days Call for Cranberries

Crisp cranberry pudding with golden sauce makes an appetizing dessert.

By Sally Saver.

There something about cranberries which makes them fit into fall meals. Maybe it's their tangy flavor, maybe their rich red coloring, maybe both. At any rate they make tasty desserts, and nutritious ones, too. Cranberries are rich in vitamins A and C, which is pleasing to know, but it's their flavor which gives them their taste appeal.

A crisp cranberry pudding with a luscious sauce makes an impressive ending for any meal.

Cranberry Crisp.

1 cup sugar
1-2 teaspoon cinnamon
1-4 cup water
1-4 cup orange juice
2 cups fresh cranberries
1-3 cup melted butter
3 cups soft bread crumbs
Grated rind 1 orange
Combine sugar, cinnamon, water and orange juice and bring to boiling point. Add cranberries. Pour butter over crumbs and add grated orange rind. Arrange alternate layers of crumbs and cranberry mixture in buttered baking dish, making top layer of crumbs. Cover and bake in moderate oven (375 degrees) for 20 minutes. Uncover and continue baking until browned, about 15 minutes longer. Serve warm with Golden Sauce.

Golden Sauce.
1 egg yolk
2 tablespoons powdered sugar
1-2 cup cream, whipped
1 teaspoon orange flavoring
Beat egg yolk until thick, gradually adding sugar. Fold in whipped cream and flavoring. Makes 1 cup.

Today's Charm Tip

It is contended that a lady's handkerchief tells more of her fastidiousness or lack thereof than any other simple possession. So, fresh and fragrant it had better be always.

Janet Blair, Columbia starlet, lets the breeze blow her hair on a day off from the current picture, "Three Girls About Town." A complexion as fresh as the out-of-doors needs a special preparation, such as the one mentioned below, to combat blackheads and clogged pores.

Give Your Skin a Fresh Start With a Special Cleansing

By Winifred Ware.

Fall housecleaning time is here, and there are plenty of faces that need to join into the season's activities. Start the fall off right by giving your skin an extra special cleansing course. You can do this by using a powdered preparation which does a most thorough job of cleaning dirt out of pores and scrubbing away scaly, dead skin.

This greasy powder comes in a can. You mix a little of it into a paste with clear water, then rub this on your face. You can feel it digging out dirt, just scrubbing your face until it's as clean as it can be.

The preparation takes away all oils and grime, frees clogged pores of lodged dirt, leaves your skin as sleek and smooth as possible. Unless your skin is very oily you'll use a rich cream at night following this treatment.

Use the preparation every night for a week when you first start. Then drop off to every other night. Most skins will later need the preparation only once or twice a week, though extremely oily skins may like to use it more often.

You'll be delighted with the results. In a few weeks' time the extra cleansing and stimulation will make your skin appear clearer and fresher and you will be digging out dirt, just scrubbing your face until it's as clean as it can be.

If you would like to know more about this preparation, just call Winifred Ware at Walnut 6565, or write in care of The Constitution, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Dear Dixie: This boy and I are engaged. We plan to be married soon. Before we became engaged, he never acted as he does now. When something comes up, he insists that he is right and does not act very pleased when it is vice versa. Do you think he does this for any special reason, or because he likes to be flattered? He likes to think that everything he does is perfect. Should I pay any attention to his actions, if I do not agree with what he does?

By Dixie George.

He likes to be the man of the house, and I like for him to feel that way, but, of course, I should have my say in matters as well as he does. Am I wrong in my attitude toward this whole situation, and if I am, will you please tell me how to make things different. WONDERING.

Your fiancé is the type who likes to have his own way, and the only thing you can do is to agree with him only when you think the same and disagree when you are not in sympathy with his ideas. There is no point in one person being completely submerged by another. Co-operation is all right to a certain extent, but I think for your own happiness, you had better have your own way some of the time. Of course you want him to be the head of the house, but on the other hand, do not let him make you a yes woman. If you are smart, you can make him think the things you want to do are the very things he wants and can carry your point.

SEPARATE VACATION MAY BE GOOD IDEA
Dear Dixie: I have been married for five years. Now my husband tells me that he is tired of me and thinks we should separate for a time. He thinks it would be a good idea to take separate trips and get away from each other for awhile. He says we are in a rut, and if we stay together something serious might happen and there would be no chance of our marriage surviving. As it is now, he thinks we still have a chance at happiness by going away—separately. What do you think?

MRS. P. H. B.
If you will do "anything to keep him" then agree to his plan for a separate vacation. I really think he has a point there for your marriage has no doubt arrived at a state of boredom, and you both need a change. Perhaps, if you both go away together to some

Self-Confident Mae West Is Willing to Put Money Into Her Next Picture

By Louella O. Parsons.

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 28.—(INS.) combination of La West and Las Vegas sounds good box office if (and it's a big if) they keep away from the vulgarity that marked "My Little Chickadee" with Bill Fields. Universal has their heads aches with that one and since "U" is the company rumored as interested in "Lady From Las Vegas" they'll probably keep an interested eye on the script.

CHATTER IN HOLLYWOOD: I can't believe the Cesar Romero-Ann Southern romance is just friendship after this: Ann is ensconced in the isolation ward at Hollywood hospital, and when Cesar comes calling he has to be disinfected on his arrival and departure! Poor Ann is suffering from a make-up poisoning—nothing serious and she's expected to leave tomorrow. When these two first started going around together, after Ann's separation from Roger Pryor, all their pals insisted that there was nothing to it—that they had been just good friends for years. But lately Cesar has appeared to be Annie's favored escort and there is very little talk of his romance with Priscilla Sillman.

How well I remember when June Caprice was a guest of honor at the Boston exhibitor's convention over 20 years ago. It was my first assignment after I joined the Morning Telegraph. Boston was June's home town, and what an ovation they gave her. Blond, dainty and so sweet, she won everyone's heart. June Jr. has the same charm and sweetness and I want to wish her good luck.

Now it's 20th Century-Fox who has been bitten by the baseball bug and realize that it is a subject that has sure-fire appeal. They'll do a picture called "Dern Lovely Bums" to be produced by Walter Morosco and directed by Ray McCarey. The intention now is to send a crew to the spring training camp of the Dodgers in Florida and later go on to New York to shoot backgrounds. The story is that of a man who rises from obscurity and becomes a national idol. I imagine the "Lou Gehrig" picture will be in the theaters before the "Dodgers" opus is started. McCarey would like Pat O'Brien for the lead, probably keeping in mind Pat's work in "Knut Rockne—All American."

It wasn't just war conditions that kept Walter Wanger from catching the Clipper to Lisbon and London. On the most reliable information I understand Walter is signing a three-picture deal with RKO which kept him in this country after he had one foot on the plane. Talk was that his first might be the sensational "Dynasty of Death" which he bought some time ago but I doubt it. There was trouble about this novel and it isn't likely it will be ironed out. However, Walter has many story properties purchased in his United Artists regime—so he won't be without material when and if he signs with RKO.

Mae West, who has never lacked confidence in herself, is willing to put money into her next movie, "Lady From Las Vegas." Exhibitors recently voted there was still a lot of interest in Mae—something she could have told them all the time. I must say the new and interesting place it would serve the purpose as well, if not better.

The Rise in Food Prices Requires Better Diet Balancing

By Ida Jean Kain.

Food is expensive and you don't need anyone to tell you that. But, high as the grocery bills are mounting, some of you are particularly concerned about getting your money's worth.

In spite of the fact that you count on spending a good share of your hard-earned cash for the family's three meals a day, you leave out—through carelessness or lack of knowledge—the very factors which will insure a plus condition of mind and body. Without these there is no possibility of success or joy of living.

Let's look into this matter of eating three times a day. From numerous surveys it has been established that the average person gets enough calories and quite a few to spare. Otherwise, there would be no such preponderance of pounds.

Because of our almost national appreciation of meat, fish and fowl, we get enough of the essential protein and that is all to the good. Protein is a food essential. But vitamins A, B and C are conspicuously absent in our diet. We do not exercise half enough care about getting our daily quota of the protective foods.

And, by the way, what did you have for breakfast? A sweet roll or toast, and coffee? That is practically the stock, standard breakfast in America. And it is a very poor start for the day. To make sure of getting your share of Vitamin C you should have either fruit juice, half a grapefruit or tomato juice, and you should have one of these every morning.

Since you also need an egg each day for its protein and mineral content, you can be sure of getting it at breakfast. Toast will either be whole wheat or the equivalent supplied in enriched bread, or it won't mean a thing in Vitamin B. Basically, that is the breakfast you need. You need the same foods whether you register under or overweight on the scales.

If you are overweight, you can cut the calories by cutting down on butter and cream. You can do this by measuring the butter for your toast and the cream for your coffee. If you are trying to reduce, you can do without sugar and coffee cream.

Your breakfast calorie score can amount to quite a lot. Most Americans go on the theory that a light lunch means an agile mind, and eat lightly. A hot sandwich made with whole wheat or enriched bread, a green salad, and a glass of milk and fresh fruit make a balanced but light meal.

If you like a hearty lunch, you can have meat, a green vegetable, bread and butter, fruit and milk. If you are overweight and want to reduce, skip the hot breads and the rich desserts—they're the weight-makers. And those who are trying to add curves can make a practice of having creamed soups, and either ice cream or a pudding with custard base for dessert.

A good basic dinner consists of: Lean meat (and the cheaper cuts supply protein of as good quality as the expensive steaks). Once a week, you should choose either liver or the other meat organs for the main course. Beef liver is just as nutritious as calf liver.

You should have daily two cooked vegetables, one of them a green leafy or a yellow vegetable. In addition you may have a potato—if it doesn't mean too many calories. For your full requirement of Vitamin C, you should also have sliced tomatoes, coleslaw, or grapefruit salad. Then, for the all-important calcium, you need a second glass of milk or a serving of cheese. The dessert should be geared to your calorie and your vitamin quota.

Balancing the menus to provide the protective essentials is the only way you can get full value for your money.

Your dietitian,
IDA JEAN KAIN.

MY DAY A Dog Disturbs White House Calm

By Eleanor Roosevelt.

WASHINGTON, Monday.—On Saturday night, in New York City, I went again to see "The Wookey," and took a young friend I thought would be particularly absorbed by the play. I found the second performance better than the first. Yesterday morning was such a beautiful day in New York City that I walked around the reservoir in Central Park before taking the plane for Washington. I was at the White House in time to have a visit from Dr. Ruby Daniels, from Texas, and Mr. Dombrowski, of the Highlander Folk school in Tennessee. Later the President brought the guests who had lunched with him on the "Potomac" among them Lord and Lady Halifax and Major Attlee.

Jimmy and Rommie came to supper with us last night and we had a very pleasant party, after which the movie, "One Foot in Heaven," was shown. I was not able to see it, however, because the mail had accumulated to such an extent that I spent the evening working on that. I came back to say good-bye to my guests when the movie was finished.

Jimmy and Rommie have acquired a large red setter. He is one of Miss Laura Delano's dogs, so he is related to all the red setters various other members of the family have had. Because he had been brought up in a kennel, this one was very frightened, but he has gradually become accustomed to family life and Jimmy other brings him with him when he comes here.

Last night Jimmy tied him to a leg of the table in the dining room and had difficulty in inducing him to lie down. I had visions of him taking the table with him if he decided to move. During the movie he meandered out of the hall and into an adjoining room where he came upon a bust of the President. Busting apparently still fill him with suspicion and he set up an excited barking, which made more noise than the movie.

After the lights went up and I came out, a bust of Franklin Jr., on top of the bookcase, suddenly attracted the dog's attention and again he howled. It made me feel that his objection was to me, until Jimmy explained that it was really his peculiar feeling about busts!

We are having a busy day today. Early to the Office of Civilian Defense, then a press conference at the White House, then back to the office for an hour, then a brief lunch with the cabinet ladies, whom I have not had a chance to bring together before this autumn. At 2 o'clock, lasting through the rest of the day, there is a meeting of the national advisory committee of the National Youth Administration, which I shall have to leave for a brief time to visit the Girl Scouts' little house at 4:30, and then to see Mr. Ellis Gimbel at the White House.

House Frock Designed for Flattery.

By Lillian Mae.

PATTERN 4916.

Don't "let down" at home—wear the smartest house frock you can find—Pattern 4916 by Lillian Mae. That scalloped front buttoning is worthy of attention—first of all because it slims you down! The bodice dips below the waist line in two points . . . eye-deceiving if your measurements are not ideal. The belt that is attached to either side ties trimly in the back. The entire back is cut in two sections, and the sleeves may be cut short, three-quarter length or long. Edge them with cheerio ric-rac like the neck and bodice! You'll enjoy making and wearing this pretty frock, especially when the Sewing Instructor explains every step of the way. Plan it in a handsome, slenderizing print.

Pattern 4916 is available in women's sizes 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46 and 48. Size 36 takes 3 3/4 yards 35-inch fabric and 2 1/4 yards of ric-rac.

Send fifteen cents (15c) in coins for this Lillian Mae pattern. Do not send stamps. Write plainly size, name, address and style number.

Just the cream of the 1941-42 fashion crop is shown in the new Lillian Mae Pattern Book. Order your copy today—you'll find page after page of original, easy-to-make modes for every age and hour. Gay crib to college apparel. Smart clothes for working, for shopping, for sporting, for do-dress or don't-dress festivities. A complete bridal trousseau. AND—as an extra feature—a free-for-the-making hat and bag set! Book fifteen cents.

Junior Institute To Be Held In Atlanta on November 7-8

The October issue of The Clubwoman, General Federation magazine, carries on the page for junior members highlights of junior plans in aiding defense. The article features Georgia's rededication plan as set forth by Georgia's Junior extension secretary, Miss Ellen St. John Barnwell, of Atlanta, who says:

"A definite plan has been adopted by Georgia Juniors to present the study course and tests given immigrants before citizenship is granted by United States courts. Purpose of this program is to enable Juniors to know in concrete form what new citizens must learn; refresh their memory of facts every citizen should know; and rededicate themselves to the truths of Americanism. Clubs will present the test in various ways—as a questionnaire, a playlet, or perhaps an interview."

A session will be given to the immigration question, followed by a rededication service at the Junior institute known as the pow-wow, to be held at the Atlanta Woman's Club, November 7-8.

Members of Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs, those in their teens and twenties, are invited to attend the first Georgia Junior Club Institute by the state Junior leader, Miss Ellen St. John Barnwell, of Atlanta. Urged to attend are district presidents, Junior chairmen, sponsors and daughters of federated club members.

The program will include for the assembled "tribes" a trading post session, a migration luncheon, square dance, trial conference and interesting addresses by club leaders. The institute opens at 9:30 o'clock at Atlanta Woman's Club auditorium, and featuring the morning session of trading post the president of each Junior club will present an outline of the program or project which has proved helpful to her club. A program-building discussion will be founded on information sent from General Federation headquarters. A migration luncheon will be held at 1 o'clock and entertainment will fill the afternoon.

On November 7, in the ballroom of the Atlanta Woman's Club will be the square dinner where "The Glamour of Optimism" will be the subject of Mildred Seydell, president of the Atlanta Federation of Women's Clubs.

The state federation's educational project, Tallulah Falls school for mountain children, will be dealt with by Miss Yolande Gwin, honorary life president of the Girls' Circle of Tallulah Falls School. Music will be furnished by Mrs. Bonita Crowe, who will play her recently published songs. The tribal conference opens at 9:30 o'clock Saturday morning with Mrs. H. B. Ritchie, of Athens, General Federation's chairman of welfare, discussing "The Relation of State Federation to General."

"The History of General Junior Progress" will be given by Mrs. H. J. Whitehead, of Comer; and "The History of Georgia Junior Progress," by Mrs. Walter Lee, of Fort Valley, who are state Junior co-chairmen.

"What You Must Know To Be An American" will be told in an interview with Mabel Brown, author of "Red Hills," who as Mrs. Alex B. Brown is chairman of juniors of Atlanta Federation.

Mrs. Ralph Butler, of Dallas, state president of Georgia Federation, speaks at the harvest luncheon on Saturday, her subject to be "The Benefits of Federation."

The annual Chanukah Ball will be held December 10 at the Educational Center at 9 o'clock. Irving Melcher's band will play. Chairmen of the ball are Mesdames J. T. Cohen, D. L. Spielberger and Irving Goldstein.

Luncheon Honors Miss Mamie Heinz

The second of a series of affairs honoring Miss Mamie Heinz, vice president representing kindergarten of the National Association of Childhood Education, was held recently at the Atlanta Woman's Club.

The luncheon was sponsored by the Atlanta Kindergarten Alumnae, Miss Louise Roquemore, president; and the Second and Third Grade Club, Mrs. Dollie Johnson, president. Miss Margaret Killian presided and introduced the speakers.

Tributes to Miss Heinz were paid by M. E. Coleman, superintendent of elementary schools; Miss Ethel Massengale, supervisor of elementary schools; Miss Rusha Wesley, principal of Lee Street school; Miss Evelyn Bird, of the Georgia branch of the Association of Childhood Education; and Mrs. F. A. Johnson, principal of Peoples Street school, former schoolmate and lifelong friend of the honor guest.

Baby Christened

Little Martha Lynn Sheppard was christened at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Eugene Sheppard, 2123 McKinley road, recently.

Dr. Peter Marshall, of the New York Avenue Presbyterian church, Washington, D. C., performed the ceremony in the presence of Mr. and Mrs. Sheppard, Mrs. Richard Edward Jones Sr., Richard Edward Jones Jr., Mrs. Clifford Francis Eason, Mrs. Marion Blair Nixon and Daniel McIntyre Berry. The baby wore as her christening dress a dainty blue crepe, lace trimmed, with matching hair ribbon.

Mrs. J. Harold Nicholson, of Madison, who will be hostess today to the executive board of the Georgia State Society, D. A. R. Mrs. Nicholson is editor of the Georgia D. A. R. column, which is an exclusive feature appearing each Sunday in The Constitution. Mrs. T. C. Mell, of Atlanta, state regent, will preside at the meeting when reports of the chairmen will be made. After the meeting Mrs. Nicholson will entertain the board at a luncheon at her home.

Personals

Miss Edith Nugent, of Louisville, Ky., arrives in Atlanta on November 6 to visit Miss Eleanor Clay, at her fifteenth street residence. She was a classmate of Miss Caroline Yundt at Bradford Junior College in Massachusetts, and will be an important young belle attending Miss Yundt's brilliant debut ball taking place at the Piedmont Driving Club on November 7. Miss Nugent is enrolled at the University of Louisville.

Mrs. Roby Robinson is convalescing at her Twenty-sixth street residence after having undergone an operation at Emory hospital.

General and Mrs. Philip S. Gage, of New York, are visiting their son and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Devereaux Lippitt, on Spalding drive.

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Kyle have moved into their new home on Greystone road. They had as their guest last weekend the former's mother, Mrs. A. G. Kyle, of Knoxville, Tenn.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel D. Hewlett and their debutante daughter, Miss Clare Hewlett, will reside at the Georgian Terrace after the first of November.

Mrs. J. G. Oglesby and Mrs. Stuart Witham have returned from New York City.

Dr. and Mrs. W. F. Shallenberger have returned after a visit to Beaufort, S. C., where they were guests of Dr. and Mrs. Michael Hoke.

Miss Margaret B. Block has returned from Augusta, where she was the guest of relatives.

Dr. Samuel Green returned Sunday, after spending last week in New Orleans, where he took a post graduate course at Tulane University.

Mr. and Mrs. John Simpson left Sunday by motor for San Antonio, Texas, to see their son, Stanley Simpson, receive his wings as lieutenant in the air corps at Brookfield training station on October 31.

Miss Nell Harvey is recuperating at her home, 64 Peachtree street, after a recent appendectomy at Emory University hospital.

Grady Marshall, who is home on leave from Camp Barkley, Texas, is visiting friends and relatives in Atlanta and Concord. He returns to camp November 3.

A. M. McLendon spent the weekend in Savannah with his mother, Mrs. L. B. McLendon.

Mrs. Ralph C. Williams, of Holden, Mass., is visiting her son and daughter, Dr. and Mrs. Hugh S. Edwards, on Anderson avenue.

Mrs. T. L. Brice and Miss Elizabeth Brice leave today by airplane to reside in Fort Worth, Texas.

Mrs. C. A. Kitchens is convalescing from an operation at the Eye and Ear infirmary.

Service Group Opens Shop To Receive Contributions

Mrs. Charles E. Seiple, executive secretary of the Service Group and Omnibus, announces that the shop at 246 Peachtree street is now open to receive contributions for the annual "bargain box" sale, which will begin on Monday, November 3. Anyone desiring to place articles on consignment may do so.

Proceeds from the sale will be used by the group to maintain two charity beds at Henrietta Eggleston Hospital for Children, the beds being available to needy patients who are residents of the state. The group also contributes to the rehabilitation of worthy families.

All members and friends of the group, who have not sent their contributions to the rummage sale, are asked to deliver them to the shop as soon as possible. All types of articles, especially men's clothing, will be acceptable for the sale.

The shop will be open for a month from 9 to 4:30 o'clock every day except Sunday. Each chairman will be responsible for the numbers of workers assisting her on the day to which she has been assigned.

Mrs. Frank Inman, chairman; Mrs. Andrew Nicholson and Mrs. F. W. Blalock will be in charge of the gift table, which will be an unusual feature of the sale. A variety of new articles, suitable for Christmas and wedding presents, will be available.

Carnival Spirit Will Reign At Social Clubs on Halloween

The carnival spirit will reign on Halloween night when social clubs will decorate ballrooms with black cats, pumpkins and cornstalks in celebration of one of the gayest evenings of the season.

The most brilliant of the Halloween festivities will, of course, be the Driving Club's annual Halloween ball when the Debutante Club will be officially presented to society en masse.

East Lake Country Club will stage its Halloween party on Saturday evening at a costume ball. Prizes galore will be awarded, and the lady and gentleman wearing the cleverest costume will receive handsome gifts. Decorations for the affair will include grinning jack-o-lanterns, which will adorn tables and cornstalks which will be placed in shaded corners of the ballroom.

The Capital City Club will have its regular dance on both Friday and Saturday evenings, and Druid Hills Golf Club will open its formal season on Saturday at a Halloween ball from 9 to 1 o'clock. The affair will be in the form of a dinner-dance, and a large number of reservations has already been made.

On Thursday evenings club members gather from 6 to 9 o'clock to play bingo and to enjoy solovox concerts at Druid Hills Club. Sunday evenings at this club continue to feature solovox concerts during the dinner hour.

Hadassah Plans Its Annual Ball

Plans have been completed for the annual Child Welfare Ball of Hadassah, which will be held at the Progressive Club, 1050 Techwood drive, on Wednesday evening, November 5, according to Mrs. S. A. Goldberg, chairman.

Departing from the usual custom, there will be no advance of tickets, but they may be obtained at the door the evening of the ball.

Mrs. Goldberg further announced that the committee had decided to abandon the carnival idea and that the affair would be a dance ball. Other members of the child welfare committee include Mesdames D. L. Spielberger, Irving Goldstein, Otto Orkin, J. Abelson and Floyd Brandes.

The entire proceeds of the ball will be used to further the child welfare program of Hadassah in Palestine, which includes the feeding of more than 25,000 children, the maintenance of school health clinics and playground and recreational facilities.

Book Week Observed By P. T. Congress

Observance of Book Week, November 2-8, by members of the Georgia Congress of Parents and Teachers will receive special emphasis this year in an effort to help parents encourage and guide their children's reading, not only during this week but every week of the year. Mrs. Robert A. Long, president of the Georgia Congress, announces.

Mrs. Long has called upon the 30,000 membership of the state parent-teacher associations to hold special study groups during the week for the distribution of lists of recommended books for children; to give dramatizations, book reviews, and expositions of the services of the public library; and to make plans for their extension.

Mrs. Long stressed the need for group discussion of specific children's books which have become classics as a way to counteract the growth of the comic and pulp magazines.

During Book Week, the year-round activities of the national congress committee on reading and library service will be reviewed. The Georgia Congress plans to do all it can to bring books and reading within reach of everyone, and to continue its study classes and efforts to help parents solve the problem of how to stimulate the use of good books in the home.

Boys' High to Play Great Chicago Prep Eleven Here Next Week

All in The Game

BY JACK TROY

Great Duke Team One of the great Duke football teams of all time comes to Grant Field to play Georgia Tech Saturday.

Some weeks ago, talking with Doc Prothro in New York, Doc said he'd heard from his kid, blocking back for the Blue Devils, and there was an air of optimism about the ex-tooth puller of Arkansas as he offered to take Duke and spot points in the Tennessee game.

Duke won handily, of course, and has not been really hard pressed. Even in the Colgate game, Duke won going away.

The Blue Devils are powerful, well-balanced and have reserve strength galore. They are paced by such great backs as Steve Lach, Winston Siegfried, Prothro, Long and others.

The Devils rolled to their fifth straight victory last Saturday, walloping the hapless "de-emphasized" Pittsburgh eleven, 27 to 7.

This may be one of Wallace Wade's greatest teams, and this is meant to include his outstanding Alabama teams. Backs hardly come any better than

Purples Seek National Title Against Austin

Negotiations for Inter-sectional Game Friday Week Closed.

By CHARLIE ROBERTS.

Boys High's defending southern prep football champions have aspirations of becoming national champions. A game with Austin High, of Chicago, annually the outstanding high school grid machine in the midwest, is practically assured of being scheduled for Ponce de Leon park Friday night week with the Purple Hurricane in the host team role.

Negotiations have been under way for several days, and final details were worked out last night in a long distance telephone conversation between Boys High athletic director and Head Coach Shorty Doyal and the Austin High mentor. Contracts are being forwarded and are expected to be signed by authorities of both schools in the next day or two.

Austin High was the school where fabulous Bill DeCorrevont, the most publicized high school gragger in the history of the game, spent his prep days before moving on to become Northwestern University's ace backfield threat. DeCorrevont was sought after by virtually every high pressure, football-minded college in the country after Chicago papers dubbed him the greatest high school prospect in history. In his senior year the championship game drew 100,000 to Soldiers' Field. At Northwestern he has lived up to these advance rave notices.

Austin High still is the outstanding high school eleven in the Chicago territory where they have won their district championship for the past five seasons. This year they are again tied for the district title.

The Austin-Boys High scrap will afford Atlanta its first look at a midwest high school team in action, and that is the section which produces far more than its share of the really outstanding players and teams. It would not be surprising if the game should draw 18,000.

Shorty Doyal's Purple Hurricane, boasting an 18-game winning streak over a two-year period, is the logical southern eleven to challenge the Chicago powerhouse since they apparently have one of their finest teams. The Doyals have tallied 307 points, an average of 44 per game, in winning seven tilts and remaining unscathed on so far. Since they have whipped the best Georgia has to offer, their claim to a national crown would be a potent one should they outscore the Chicago outfit and also Meridian and Miami High, two other out-of-the-state powerhouses which are on their slate this year.

No Mat Program Offered Tonight

There will be no heavyweight wrestling show in Atlanta tonight. Injury to Louis Thesz, who was to have been the headliner on tonight's scheduled program at Warren Arena resulted in cancellation of the match.

Meanwhile, Promoter Abe Simon has gone north to sign outstanding performers for future shows. Before leaving the city Simon promised that a figure prominent in the mat world would appear on next week's card.

DUKE LEADER—The head Devil of Duke's big blue team is Bob Barnett, captain and center. Barnett leads a team that averages over 200 pounds from end to end and tail-back. He will be in the middle of the line when the Blue Devils stop over in Atlanta to play Tech en route to a New Year's bowl.

STORMS ON AHEAD

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—More than a few of the untied and unbeaten survivors from October's heavy storm will keep wading into even deeper trouble this coming Saturday. Minnesota, Texas, Pennsylvania, Vanderbilt, Notre Dame, Army, Fordham and Temple are among the leaders who won't be picking violets when the next whistles blow.

Duke and Texas A. & M. look to be in somewhat gentler spots, although Georgia Tech has always been more than a slight annoyance for Duke. Duquesne may still have some trouble with Villanova. Last week Michigan, Santa Clara and Ohio State all slipped over the ledge. Others, unbeaten and untied so far, will take the big drop, where the main problem now is to guess the names of the departing at their next stops.

Minnesota-Northwestern

Minnesota will be in for another hard day. In the first place the big Gophers suffered several casualties on Saturday in the loss of Bruce Smith and Pukema, and further jolts to Frickey and Odson.

At least two of these may be out—with the other two below par. In the second place Northwestern played Michigan to a standstill and Michigan gave Minnesota as even a battle as anyone might hope to see.

Young Graham of Northwestern is coming along like the western wind. Northwestern is equipped with enough to give the mighty but battered Gophers an even war.

Notre Dame-Army.

One of these two must leave the happy highlands. Army's rebound from last fall under the brilliant coaching of Earl Blaik and staff has been one of the 1941 sensations. Army is always at its peak against Notre Dame. But Army apparently has too much to give away in reserve strength and passing skill. This should be Notre Dame's hardest test after an easy schedule to date, with Army facing heavy odds.

Vanderbilt-Tulane.

Red Sanders of Vanderbilt is another coach who has contributed a fine job with a team that came to 1941 after two lean, raged years.

Beating Tulane is another matter. The Green Wave, beaten twice, is still a fast moving powerhouse. But the Vanderbilt attack is improving each week back of a strong line. This will be another sizzling scramble from start to finish.

Fordham-Purdue.

The unwhipped Ram is still headed for an unwhipped season. On Saturday Jimmy Crowley's blistering backfield will meet Purdue at her best, with a restored backfield ready to go. I doubt there is a better all-around backfield in the game than Fordham's combination of speed, drive and passing.

Texas-S. M. U.

When the season opened a great Texas squad seemed to face two stout obstacles. One was S. M. U. The other was Texas A. and M. Both will go all out to halt or roll the first game.

back a Texas storm that has averaged nearly forty points a game. So far it will be difficult to prove to any opponent that Texas isn't the country's top. The S. M. U. meeting will help to give a better answer.

Pennsylvania-Navy.

In this game Navy's unbreakable defense, so far, will be tested to the limit against a Pennsylvania attack that can really get up and travel. Navy so far hasn't faced any such backfield as the Red and Blue can offer with Stiff and others who are big, fast and hard to haul down. Navy's offense must pick up quite a bit to have an even chance against a squad that can match Swede Larson's talent in reserve strength.

Temple-Boston College.

This will be Temple's roughest party. After a slow start the Boston Eagles are flying now on stronger, faster wings. In Tomasic, Temple has one of the best backs of the year, but Boston has her share of good backs who should be at their best for this game. A hard Temple test.

How Many Unbeaten Left?

In the list outlined above I'd say that Army has the hardest job remaining on the unbeaten side. After this—Navy. Army and Navy are trading skill, speed and power with two of the best in football at this date.

After this Vanderbilt looks to be in for rough surf, but the job hasn't nearly the indigo tinting it carried some weeks ago. There is also the chance that Minnesota may have a knotty problem to unravel, if Bruce Smith isn't ready. Bruce Smith is an A-1 all around brilliant—running, kicking, passing and defense. Temple is no sure thing. But it would be something of a jolt to see Fordham, Duke or Texas A. and M. driven from the uplands. The same is true of Texas, but Texas has much stiffer competition to handle against S. M. U. at Dallas. It is also just as well to remember that as November arrives some teams are on their way up—others on their way down. Amazing changes can take place in these two shifts.

GETTING AHEAD.

CORAL GABLES, Fla., Oct. 28. (P)—John Tobin, senior halfback on the unbeaten Miami University eleven, intercepted just one forward pass in his first two years of varsity competition but opened the 1941 season by filching three in the first game.

Commercial, Columbus Play at Poncey Tonight

Purples Battle Jordan Thursday Night; Tech High Meets Memphis Eleven Friday.

Those Commercial High Typists will open the overcrowded week of prep football when they take on potent Columbus High at 8 o'clock tonight at Ponce de Leon park. Ponce de Leon will get a good cleat massage during the next three days, since Boys' High and Jordan clash there tomorrow night and Tech High and Memphis Tech High swap luges Friday in another nocturnal fray.

The charges of Rufus Godwin and Henry Wagnon cannot hope to do very much toward stopping the Columbus outfit, which has dropped only one game and that to Tech High on a long, last-quarter aerial from Marcus McWhorter to George Vlass. The heave gave the Blacksmiths a 6-0 upset win.

WOLF HIGH SCORER.

Big, Bad Eu Wolf, considered one of the best running backs in the G. I. A. A., will lead the down-staters surge into Atlanta for the Typist engagement. Until the Smithies stopped him cold, he was tied with Clint Castleberry, Purple Hurricane ace, for the conference scoring lead.

The Typists have come up with a jack-of-all-trades backfield star who bids fair to be a troublesome character to opposing teams. Dick Duren is his monicker, and he runs, passes and kicks rather well. He did heavy duty last week when the Typists took a 28-to-0 dumping from the rejuvenated Smithies.

BACKFIELD MATERIAL.

J. W. Garner, Claud Boyd, Jack and George Wheeler and Buddy Wilson are others who must come through in the backfield for the Pryor Streeters if they are to give the Columbus team a real battle.

Big Charlie Maloof, now playing in the backfield, usually is a standout defensive performer. Robert Morrison, Henry Russey and Melvin Robinson give Commercial three hard-charging guards. Ed Wiggins, a substitute end, played a bang-up game against the Smithies and made several nice pass snatches. If he keeps up the good work, he will be another performer worth the watching.

Thibaut Demoted By Tulane Coach

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 28.—(P)—Jim Thibaut, Tulane's fullback who was generally regarded as the hardest plunger in Dixie last season, has been dropped to the second team in favor of Bernie Pracko, 185-pound junior, from Tarentum, Pa., in preparation for the Vanderbilt game.

Thibaut hasn't been in peak physical shape yet this season. Last Saturday he got only 14 yards in 12 blows at the Mississippi line, and let loose a couple of wild passes when the receivers were wide open.

Pracko, in the game only a short while, got 22 yards in three plays and completed two out of four passes. He's an excellent bullet passer and a topnotch defensive player.

Mrs. Hulse Wins Ladies' Day Play

Mrs. Rufus Hulse was the winner yesterday in the Ladies' Day play at East Lake. Next in order were Mrs. L. A. Burdett, Mrs. H. J. Benson, Mrs. D. D. Hedekin and Mrs. A. D. Dinkler, the latter two being tied.

Every Tuesday will be ladies' day at East Lake.

Thornton Lee and Riddle Top Pitchers, Rating Plan Reveals

Nelson Beat Bulldogs Despite Back Injury

Thomas Reveals Tide's Triple-Threat Star Was Doubtful Starter in Legion Field Clash.

TUSCALOOSA, Ala., Oct. 28.—(AP)—If Jimmy Nelson ever gets fully healthy—heaven help Alabama's gridiron opponents. The stands didn't know it at Legion Field, Birmingham, last Saturday, but the Crimson Tide's great halfback wasn't even supposed to play.

"I didn't say anything about it before the game," Coach Frank Thomas said, "but Jimmy might not have played at all. His injured back had been troubling him all week, and I didn't know if he'd even start. At the most, I thought he'd play just a few minutes."

And what did Nelson do? He overpowered Georgia almost single-handed, scoring two touchdowns, passing to Holt Rast for a third, and keeping the Bulldogs constantly in hot water with booming punts. He left the heavy line plunging to Fullback Paul Spencer and others, but showed plenty of action when he took the ball himself. All told, he ran 11 times for a total gain of 32 yards—a standout performance against one of the best defensive teams of the nation.

Thomas says he wouldn't swap his six-foot, 183-pound senior from Live Oak, Fla., for any back in the country.

"Frankie Sinkwich was a great back against Alabama, but I'll take Jimmy Nelson. I haven't seen one like him since Dixie Howell."

Nelson's quick kicks contributed to Georgia's defeat. He booted one on the third play of the game, dropping it over the opposing secondary for 37 yards. Cliff Kimsey kicked out to midfield for Georgia, but "Bama was on its way, and Nelson mixed four running plays with three completed

Bobby Feller, Kirby Higbe In 2d Place

Pitchers Ranked on Basis of Strength of Clubs They Defeated.

By WHITNEY MARTIN.

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—(AP)—The sports pages are cluttered with a variety-store assortment of football team ratings, the standing of a certain eleven being based on everything from the quality of the opposition to sectional pride or the fact that the rater has a second cousin playing second-string quarterback.

Which is using the kitchen entrance to the fact that Robert J. Brennan, of Iowa City, Iowa, using quality of opposition as a basis, has come up with a rating for major league pitchers for the late season. Just to end the suspense, it might be mentioned right now that his rating system puts Elmer Riddle, of the Reds, in the No. 1 slot in the National league, and designates Thornton Lee as the American league's best.

SELECTION METHOD.

Brennan uses the Stanley-Dean rating system, with innovations. A pitcher is given points for every victory, the number of points increasing with the strength of the team he beats. Points are deducted for every loss, and the weaker the team to which the pitcher loses the more points he loses.

This is the eighth year Brennan has rated the hurlers, and he feels the greatest improvement has been made in the system this year in that the chief criticism of the method has been eliminated.

In the past the objection was that a team in first place was not eight times stronger than a last-place club. Through a study of the standings for the last 20 years it was learned a championship team is only twice as strong as the weakest team. Therefore, this year 14 points were given the pitcher who was winner over a club in first place, and seven points if he beat a team in eighth position. Seven points were deducted for losing to the first-place club, and 14 for losing to the club in last place.

The points given a pitcher for beating a team between first and last position were figured in direct proportion to the number of games that the team was behind the championship club. For instance, a pitcher beating the second-place Cardinals would receive more points than an American League pitcher beating the second-place Red Sox because there were fewer games separating the Cards from first place than there were between the Red Sox and Yankees.

FELLER SECOND.

Now that that is perfectly clear, we hope, we can dig into Brennan's findings. Riddle received 170.82 points in winning his 19 games while losing four. In second place in the National League is Kirby Higbe, with 136.64. Ernie White received 124.68, Whitlow Wyatt 111.31, Bucky Walters 104.11, Howard Krist 85.52, Curt Davis 72.44, Lon Warneke 67.17, Bob Klinger 66.79 and Carl Hubbell 60.35.

Behind Lee, who received 114.57 points, came Bob Feller with 105.09, Heber Newsome 94.86, Alton Benton 93.55, Lefty Gomez 92.56, Red Ruffing 83.05, Joe Dobson 59.61, Spurgeon Chandler 55.80, Johnny Murphy 54.75, Mike Ryba 41.32, and Dutch Leonard 39.56.

An interesting angle is that, although the Yankees didn't have a 20-game winner, all of their pitchers finished on the positive side. And for those who insist on hearing the worst, Al Milnar, of Cleveland, was at the bottom of the American League list with a mark of minus 104.04, and Lee Grissom, of the Phils, was the National League tailender with minus 106.30.

The system probably is as accurate as any for figuring a pitcher's effectiveness, but the club owners shouldn't take it too seriously when figuring a player's cash value. The White Sox might have a little trouble trying to get Feller and cash for Lee.

Wave Attendance Nears New Record

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 28.—(AP)—Tulane's football team is following its annual custom of setting new southern attendance records for home games.

A total of 159,251 customers watched the Green Wave battle Boston College, Auburn, North Carolina and Mississippi here this year.

With two games to play here—against the fine drawing cards of Alabama and Louisiana State—the Wave is bound to beat last season's mark of 183,298 for its six home games, which was a southern record for a regular home season.

This year's crowds have been: Boston College 43,567; Auburn 36,136; North Carolina 33,382; and Mississippi 45,168.

Bulldogs Show Spirit In Impressive Workout

Varsity Stops Frosh Cold; Sinkwich Passes Well; Butts Respects Auburn Team.

ATHENS, Ga., Oct. 28.—Alabama knocked Georgia's hopes for an unbeaten season sky-high Saturday, but the defeat didn't break the spirit that Coach Wallace Butts has instilled in his scrappy ball club. Never was that spirit so evident as this afternoon, when the Bulldogs went through one of the longest drills of the year, winding up with a signal drill under the lights.

Reds' No. 1 Fan Is 106 Years Old

CYNTHIANA, Ky., Oct. 28.—(INS)—Charles Rieckel, the Cincinnati Reds' No. 1 fan, last night celebrated his 106th birthday.

Rieckel came to this country as a youth of 19, from Germany, and settled in Cynthiana in 1857. He ran a jewelry business until he was 84.

An avid Red fan, he made a practice of attending Cincinnati's opening game each year, and holds the record for number of opening games attended.

Men in Service To Be Honored At Druid Hills

"Hellzapoppin' at Druid Hills" today.

That's Pro Harry Stephens' slogan for Army-Navy day, which will honor members who have been called to service, and he doesn't aim to fall short of just that.

Golf is scheduled in the afternoon, with a cocktail party and dinner later on. And don't forget the awarding of prizes during dinner. That's going to be something, take it from Harry.

Entrants in the golf tournament include:

Navy—With Commander Jesse Draper as captain, W. J. Proctor, J. O. Knight, W. H. Hester, Joe Horack, Jr., Art Mims, Dr. George Fuller, Dr. J. R. Childs, Glenn McVair, L. T. Law, Milton Gollay, Frank Veal, Jim Wilson, L. V. McMath, Wiley Tucker, Thorneville Jacobs, Jr., Arthur Harrison, Bob Galar, Dr. W. A. Selman, Fred Moore, A. A. Orndree, J. H. Ewing, H. Hubbard, Don Lambert, F. Sanders, Bobby Adair, Hal Cook, Bob Wynne, Holcomb Green, W. G. Bowen, Max Hargrave, Charles Babb, J. C. Shumate, Hammond Story, Commander Adams.

Army—With Major Ralph Black as captain, Dr. Julius Hughes, Douse Donaldson, J. F. Settle, Hubert Surratt, Jack Hale, Dr. J. J. Clark, Dr. Steve Brown, R. S. Barkley, Jim Carleton, S. F. Varner, J. Alverson, C. M. Bowden, Alan Ford, Lieutenant McLaughlin, Lieutenant Wallace, Lieutenant McCullough, Lieutenant Anderson, Lieutenant Emmert, Lieutenant Nelson, Captain Milton, H. E. Ellison, E. L. Philpot, Austin Dubeck, Bob Taylor, Jeff Kelly, Jim Moore, E. S. Worthington, George Kirkland, H. L. Blackwell, Morten Sutton, George Hatcher, R. A. Clark, Elmer Brown, J. K. Osborne.

COERCION WINS.

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—(AP)—Charles Stern's Coercion turned in his second straight victory at Laurel today by winning the Worthington-Purse, a sprint of six furlongs involving six starters.

A BEVERAGE OF MODERATION

Johnny Bosch Stars in Drill At Tech Flats

Jacket Offense Fails To Go When Tailback Leaves Scrimmage.

By JOHNNY BRADBERRY.

If Georgia Tech does any ground gaining against undefeated Duke Saturday, you can bet your last defense stamp that Johnny Bosch will have something to do with it. While the chubby little tailback was in the scrimmage yesterday, the yellow Jackets gained considerable ground, mostly on passes, against the Red Devils. But when he left the spark was gone and the attack bogged down.

The Techs had considerable trouble stopping Blue Devil running, coaches believe unless they show a great improvement in their tackling and pass defense a repeat of last year's 41-7 score is in store.

The team also failed to impress with its blocking while running its own offense, especially for the passer and kicker. And since Duke is well known for its ability to rush both these fellows, a lot of work remains for coaches along these lines.

NOT MUCH RUNNING.

Bosch, the star of last Saturday's game against Auburn, threw several nice passes during the week's first rough work but was unable to do much running with the ball on the stubborn red-shirt line.

It appears that if the Jackets are going to gain very much on the Blue Devils, they will have to do it through the air lanes. One can hardly expect little men like Bosch, Davey Eldredge and Bobby Sheldon to run over or through so big a team as Wallace Wade has this season.

However, Bosch will be Johnny on the spot with his passes and unless he gets better protection than he had against the Red Devils, it will be hard for him to complete any.

MARKED MAN.

The Dukes are sure to point towards stopping his aerial bombs, as there were a couple of scouts in the stands who saw him toss two touchdowns against Auburn. Then too, they probably will be watching him closely on punt returns as he hauled one back 60 yards against the Tigers.

One of the finest kickers in the country, Steve Lach, will be punting for Duke, which places quite a load on the shoulders of Captain Charlie Sanders and Sophomore Pat McHugh, who do most of the kicking for the Jackets. Scout reports say that Lach's great punting has given the Blue Devils a fine advantage in all games this season. McHugh and Sanders will have to be at their best to match his work.

GOOD AS HARMON.

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Oct. 28.—(AP)—Here is what Bob Zuppke, veteran mentor of the University of Illinois eleven, has to say after watching Notre Dame maul his charges two straight years: "Steve Juzwik is as fine a runner as Tome Harmon, of Michigan."

W. T. Anderson New President Of Ga.-Fla. Loop

Prominent Banker and President of American Club Succeeds Walker.

ALBANY, Ga., Oct. 28.—(AP)—W. T. Anderson, president of the Farmers and Merchants Bank, of Leslie, Ga., and the American Baseball Club, was elected president of the Georgia-Florida League today, succeeding A. D. Walker, of Thomasville.

Anderson, who will take office November 15, said, "I don't want the job because I know what Walker has gone through during the last few years and I expect the league to have its worst year in 1942. However, I will do the best I can."

The new president said he would sever all connections with the American club. Walker was awarded a $100 bonus and a lifetime pass for himself and his wife to all league games.

Before the election the directors voted to cut the president's salary from $1,200 to $800 and to combine the office of secretary and statistician, paying an annual salary of $500.

The directors of the eight clubs in the circuits elected Guy Connell, of Valdosta, as vice president to succeed S. J. Teague, of Tallahassee.

When all America calls for the best, it's a large order.

America always makes up its mind about quality slowly and carefully. But, once it is certain that a product is the best of its kind, America quickly demands its production on a tremendous scale.

With more Budweiser than ever before, there has not been enough to go 'round.

Never before in history has there been a situation like this:

A vast expansion program carried on for eight years made it possible for the world's largest brewery to produce more beer in 1941 than ever before has come from a single brewery or group of breweries operating under one management—and yet it was impossible for us to fill all orders.

Such a demand, previously unheard of for any similar product, made it difficult to maintain adequate distribution in all of the 48 states at all times. Through it all, our dealers have shown great patience and for this we are grateful.

America prefers Budweiser. Your own preference for Budweiser is a compliment to your own good taste—proof that you recognize the outstanding quality that has made Budweiser the biggest-selling beer in history.

With the completion of our expansion program, we trust that you now are getting Budweiser whenever you call for it.

Whirly Arrives On Coast to Nip 'Biscuit's Mark

California Gives Warren
Wright's Famous Colt
Warm Reception.

By ROBERT MYERS.
LOS ANGELES, Oct. 28.—(P)—One peep at that famous long, bushy tail and the crowd broke into a cheer.

It belonged to Whirlaway, and the warm welcome extended the Calumet king would have gladdened the heart of all Kentucky.

Yes, Whirlaway, heading an invading contingent of 46 thoroughbreds of the Calumet stable, arrived today to be greeted by an unprecedented throng of hundreds.

With Whirly was Some Chance, the stable's champion two-year-old, and many other fine race horses, but the Blenheim colt was the main attraction.

The triple crown winner of 1941 seeks to wrest record money-winning laurels from California's beloved Seabiscuit, and bids fair to do it in the coming winter campaign at Santa Anita.

Whirly lags the Seabiscuit record of $427,730 by $88,069. He's eligible for stakes totaling $205,000 before the Santa Anita season is over. The golden goal, of course, is the golden gallop on March 7—the $100,000 Santa Anita handicap.

California always will love old Seabiscuit, who reached his peak in a gallant comeback at the age of seven, but Whirly, capricious runner of the Kentucky Derby, the Preakness and the Belmont, holds the fancy of the turf world today.

Warren Wright's colt is eligible for six stakes this winter—one worth $50,000 in added money, three $10,000 races, one $25,000 and the $100,000 handicap. Some Chance, incidentally, is eligible for $295,000 added stake money, including the $50,000 derby.

Down a lane of admirers, admitted to the stable area for the first time in Santa Anita's history, Whirlaway pranced to his elaborate quarters. Silver King, his white saddle-pony pal, preceded him down the runway.

The champ got excited only once, when stablemate Dandy Fox started to cut up behind him. Both were quieted quickly.

ALL IN THE GAME

Lach and Siegfried. They are burly behemoths who make a specialty of running over folks who get in their way.

It's tough for a team with a secondary that includes some small men to hold such giants in check. The Devils ran over Tech last year.

And probably all the Jackets can do this time is to go in there and hope the Blue Devils will show them some mercy.

For Duke's another of those bowl-bound teams, and at this writing it probably would take something drastic, like an act of congress, to stop 'em.

One Big Hope

I may be pessimistic, as Georgia Tech undoubtedly played a jam-up game against Auburn, but, somehow, I don't see how Tech can get anywhere unless the line, one of the best in the south, is able to take charge.

It so happens that line play has provided several very fine upsets since the season started. South Carolina's fast foreward got the jump on giant Clemson—and when the final whistle had blown the hitherto bowl-bound Tigers were on the short end of a 18-14 score.

Ole Mississippi used team speed to wallop Tulane Saturday. The line got the jump—just as it did on Georgia. In the latter game Georgia finally worked around to getting the jump and so tied the game.

There have been many instances of highly-rated teams getting kicked in the teeth because the opposition had the faster line.

Alabama caught Georgia on a sort of off Saturday and got the jump. This means everything in a football game.

It is to be doubted that Duke has a better line than Tech. But what happens when those devilish Blue Devils begin powdering through the secondary remains to be seen.

Whatever happens Duke will be well worth seeing. For, while there has been some criticism of the schedule, the fact remains that the Blue Devils have it.

The Difference Johnny Bosch makes all the difference in the world to the Tech team. When little John is at peak form, those Jackets operate efficiently.

Injuries have retarded him this season, but he still remains one of the great backs of the U. S.

He's the All-America type—a boy who can make a team's offense go. There aren't many like him.

He's the greatest little back in the country. The boy has taken on quite a bit of weight since his sophomore year, but he could gain 40 or 50 more pounds and still be shy of Lach, Siegfried or Prothro.

Wallace Wade doesn't fool with small men. It's still a rather pertinent thing that only W. A. Alexander saw the possibilities in Bosch. Other coaches passed him up.

'Pressure' Kick Old Ears Whitworth, one of the great tailbacks in Blytheville (Ark.) history, was demoted from first-string end to second-string guard by Wallace Wade, the old Bear, when he was playing at Alabama.

Whitworth, Georgia line coach, likes to tell the story about how Wade, saying "we need quality in the line," shifted him to guard. Whitworth made a great "pressure" kick in the Rose Bowl game.

Alabama was leading Washington State, 21 to 0, when Whitworth talked the quarterback into letting him try a field goal. Line of scrimmage was the 13. Whitworth kicked from the 23. A broken bone in his ankle had made his foot rigid. He had perfect form—by accident.

"I'm sure glad I made the kick good," Whitworth said afterwards. "If I'd missed it the Old Bear would have eaten me up."

Indoor Polo Set Here Wednesday

Indoor polo will be played at North Fulton Park every Wednesday night at 8:30 p. m. in the riding ring.

These Wednesday night games are mostly practice tests for the regular games every Sunday on the new outdoor field at North Fulton Park. However, they will be fast and hard-fought games. They are played three men to a team with a rubber ball, due to the comparative smallness of the ring. The action is always in front of the grandstand.

The lineups:

'Bama Injury List Continues on Rise

TUSCALOOSA, Ala., Oct. 28.—(P)—The Alabama Crimson Tide, giving for its conference clash with Kentucky here Saturday, saw its injury list lengthened today as Morton Kimball, second-string guard, suffered an ankle injury during scrimmage.

League Loses, Athletics Gain In Attendance

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—(P)—Connie Mack, for whom the financial gods haven't smiled too often since his great teams of a decade ago, turned the attendance corner with his Philadelphia Athletics during the past season, a survey by the Associated Press disclosed.

Unofficial figures assembled since the end of the season show that 641,629 persons saw the Athletics in their 1941 home games in contrast to 432,145 a year ago—a gain of 209,484.

That rise was made despite a drop of 213,272 by the entire eight-club American League.

The National League played to 5,029,689 spectators last season, compared with 4,848,300 in 1940, for a gain of 181,389, while the American League figures were 5,220,519 in 1941 and 5,433,791 in 1940.

Snooker Tourney In Quarter-Finals

The Snooker tournament at the Bightown Recreation Billiards Center opened with a bang last night as eight clever players emerged victors in a series of interesting matches.

Snookers entering the quarter-finals, which will be played tonight, were B. Jennings, J. R. Langford, C. Mullinax, J. W. Davis, M. J. Lynch, L. Witherspoon, D. George and G. H. Copeland.

Semi-finals are slated Thursday and Friday night. Prizes will be awarded the eight players who won last night, with additional awards going to semi-finalists and finalists.

PASTOR WINS.

TORONTO, Oct. 28.—(P)—Pounding away methodically and without any opposition, Bob Purton, of New York, a contender for Joe Louis' heavyweight boxing title, scored a technical knockout over Al Delaney, of Windsor, Ont., here tonight.

Nurses to Close Session Today In Gainesville

Ellis Arnall, Dr. Abercrombie on Closing Day's Program.

Special to THE CONSTITUTION. GAINESVILLE, Ga., Oct. 28.—Five group meetings, a banquet and a concert featured today's sessions of the Georgia State Nurses' Association convention and affiliated groups being held here. Outstanding in interest at the afternoon session was the address by Dr. Cleveland D. Whelchel, of Gainesville, on "Surgery in the Treatment of Pulmonary Tuberculosis," illustrated with pictures and living examples.

Creating much interest was the sub-topic, "The Preparation and Education of the Public Health Nurse," discussed by Florrie Lee Erb, Lucy Harris and others during the G. S. O. P. H. N. program. Although group meetings are held, the general meetings are largely attended by members of all the organizations.

A speech by Ellis Arnall, attorney general of Georgia, will be a feature of tomorrow's session. Dr. T. F. Abercrombie, director of the Georgia Public Health Service and chief of the emergency medical services for civilian defense, will also speak tomorrow.

Dorothy Deming, general director of the National Organization for Public Health Nursing, of New York city, was a speaker today, on "Trends in Public Health Nursing." She outlined the many changes affecting the nursing profession of today, compared with former times.

A feature of the convention is the broadcasting of the meetings by radio control over Gainesville's new radio station, WGGA. Tomorrow's program will also include the selection and installation of officers; hearing committee reports and selecting the 1942 convention city. The closing business session will be a program by the State Nursing Council on National Defense to be held in the afternoon from 4 to 6 o'clock.

A chicken fry at Chickopee clubhouse at noon tomorrow will cover the social features of the convention.

IN RADIO—Tommy Lane, whose real name is Stanley Hoffman, is a former Atlanta youth who is doing well in Hollywood as a radio actor and entertainer.

Movies, Radio Bring Fame to Ex-Atlanta Boy

Tommy Lane, Formerly Stanley Hoffman, Is Visiting Here.

By DEAN BROOME.
Tommy Lane, 15, used to be a singer before his voice started changing.

Now he has become a Hollywood radio and movie actor and is making a lot more money, he admitted yesterday.

Tommy, nee Hollywood, Stanley Hoffman, is a former Atlanta youth who went to Hollywood five years ago determined to become a singer. Nature interrupted his plans temporarily, so he took the next, and apparently best alternative. He decided to become an actor.

A dapper youngster, he blew into town this week to visit some of his old friends between radio shows.

Since leaving Atlanta, Tommy has appeared on the air with Orson Welles, Jean Hersholt, Cecil B. de Mille and Edward G. Robinson—not to mention Shirley Temple.

He spent six months as a regular singer on Joe Penner's program immediately after he arrived in the movie capital.

Tommy played "Tiny Tim" with Welles and Lionel Barrymore in "The Christmas Carol" on the Campbell Playhouse. He was on the Lux Radio Theater three times, and it was there he played "opposite" Shirley Temple in "The Little Rebel." He was on the "Dr. Christian" series with Hersholt.

A versatile young man, Tommy was on the stage once in George B. Shaw's "Caesar and Cleopatra," and in the movies as a choir boy in one of Bette Davis' pictures.

His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Hoffman. His mother is Minna Hoffman, the dramatic soprano.

Community Fund Workers Report Scores of Gifts

Community Fund appeal headquarters passed a strenuous day yesterday as leaders and workers closed ranks for the all-out effort to push the drive from the halfway mark of $287,956 to the ultimate goal of $575,000.

General Chairman R. H. Rich held an important conference with Donald Oberdorfer and John Ottley Jr., co-directors of the groups division, and their 14 captains of teams organizing solicitation among the employees of big business concerns.

It was brought out that extraordinarily careful and comprehensive advance work in setting up plans for giving $5,000 wage-earners and salaried workers a definite opportunity to contribute this year had resulted in slower returns but every assurance of substantially increased results.

Chairman Rich was in touch with all other division heads during the day and heard reports from all quarters that the volunteer
